To my Family, yesterday and today—

Acknowledgments

The original All Clear idioms text came out more than twenty years ago, and the additional two texts at higher and lower levels appeared years later. It was always my dream for these three texts to become a comprehensive listening and speaking series using idioms and other expressions as springboards for activities, and I have many people to thank for making this dream come true.

To Jim Brown, publisher, and Sherrise Roehr, executive editor, thank you for getting the ball rolling on this project. To Katie Carroll and Jennifer Meldrum, my developmental editors, thank you for your wonderful attention and detailed suggestions. To Maryellen Eschmann-Killeen, Tunde Dewey, and the rest of the production team, thank you for your enthusiasm, creativity, and wonderful work.

I would also like to express my gratitude to the many colleagues who over the years gave me extremely valuable feedback, which I incorporated into the new editions. I would especially like to thank Inocencia Dacumos, Rosemary Loughman, Helen Munch, Kathleen Pappert, Ellen Rosenfield, and Larry Statan.

A big thank you goes to my daughter Melissa, who for years has enthusiastically given me feedback to help make the language in All Clear dialogues as natural as possible. Thank you, Melissa, for using your wonderful sense of what people really say to answer such questions as "How would you say this?", "Would you ever say that?", "Does this sound natural?", and "What's another way to say. . . ?"

I would also like to thank my many students for their interest and insightful questions as I taught with the All Clear texts. While teaching, I jotted down their questions in the textbook margins. And then, while revising the texts, I used their questions as guides to improve the material.

Finally, I would like to thank Michael Lewis, who has put the lexical approach in the center stage of language acquisition. I wrote the first All Clear in the early 1980s, and ten years later it was a revelation to hear Lewis talk about the value of teaching "chunks" of language—collocations and fixed expressions. I have found that focusing on lexical items (many, but not all of them, idiomatic) in a natural dialogue can provide concrete material that can serve as a springboard for numerous activities in a listening/speaking class. Thank you, Michael Lewis, for bringing the lexical approach to the forefront of language teaching and learning.

A Walk-Through Guide

All Clear 1—Listening and Speaking (intro level) is the first in this best-selling series of conversationally-oriented texts. High-frequency American English expressions such as make friends, and eat out are presented in meaningful contexts to develop speaking, listening, and pronunciation skills. This text is appropriate for high-beginner and intermediate level listening/speaking, pronunciation, and vocabulary courses.

- Theme-based units feature more contextualized listening activities.
- Culture Note boxes in every lesson apply the theme to the outside world and encourage discussion.
- After You Listen sections after each conversation increase comprehension.

Lesson 3

Let's Go Away For the Weekend!

Theme: Making Plans for the Weekend

Warm-Up

Answer these questions with a partner or in a small group.

What do you like to do when you have free time? Look at the 12 activities below. Next to each, write a number (1, 2, or 3) to show if you don't like it, if it's just OK, or if you like it a lot.

1 I don't like it.	2 It's just OK.	3 I like it a lot.
1. go to the movies	5. go swimming	9. take walks
2. go to the beach	6. go shopping	10. play soccer
3. go to the park	7. go jogging	11. read a book
4. go to the mall	8. go hiking	12. clean my room

When you finish, tell members of your group what you like to do and what you don't like to do. For example, you can say:

When I have free time, I like to _____
I don't like to _____

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoon on page 39. Peter and Alice are talking about going away for a weekend. What do you think they are saying?

As You Listen

Close your book. Listen to the conversation between Peter and Alice to find the answers to these questions.

Where are they going to go next month?
What season (fall, winter, spring, or summer) is it now?

Listen again, but this time read the conversation as you listen.

Culture Note

Many Americans like to take a three-day weekend next month. Do you want to go away?
Alice: That's a great idea! Where do you want to go?
Peter: To the beach.
Alice: The beach in the winter?
Peter: We don't have to go swimming. We can take walks on the beach.
Alice: But what else can we do?
Peter: Oh, there are plenty of things to do. We can read, go to the movies. I need to relax, don't you?
Alice: I sure do. You're right. The beach is a good idea. And it won't be crowded. Do you think we need to make a reservation anywhere?
Peter: No, I don't think so. There are lots of places to stay. And they'll be cheaper now than they are in the summer.

After You Listen

Below are details about the introductory conversation. Circle T for true, F for false, or ? if you don't know.

Peter and Alice will go away for a week. T F ?

Alice is surprised because Peter wants to go to the beach in the winter. T F ?

Alice doesn't want to go to the beach in the winter. T F ?

Peter and Alice go away often. T F ?

There will be many people at the beach. T F ?

Say the conversation in pairs. Then have two students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask questions about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

go away (far)—Use this expression to describe when you leave home and sleep in a different place for one or more nights. (past + went)

ALL CLEAR? Pronunciation: When you say went, connect the two words so they sound like one word: went-ay.

Your Turn

Complete this chart. Put checks (✓) on the lines that describe you. Then compare yourself to your partner.

1. Do you have enough	No, I don't have enough	Yes, I have enough (just right)	Yes, I have plenty of (more than enough)
• homework?	_____	_____	_____
• money?	_____	_____	_____
• free time?	_____	_____	_____
2. Did you have enough	No, I didn't have enough	Yes, I had enough (just right)	Yes, I had plenty of (more than enough)
• sleep last night?	_____	_____	_____
• breakfast this morning?	_____	_____	_____
• to do last weekend?	_____	_____	_____

ALL CLEAR?

he crowded - be full of people

Contrast pairs of speech: adjective—crowd room—crowd, crowd

- This restaurant is crowded. Let's go somewhere else.
- In the winter, the beach isn't crowded.
- Let's go home. This party is too crowded.
- I'm tired. I had to stand on the bus all the way home because it was so crowded.
- There is a big crowd near that car. Maybe someone famous is in the car.
- I don't like crowds, so I want to stay home on New Year's Eve.

Your Turn

Ask three students the questions below. Complete the chart.

Classmates	What kinds of places can be crowded?	How do you feel when you are in a crowd?
1. _____	_____	_____
2. _____	_____	_____
3. _____	_____	_____

make a reservation (far) - save a place for someone (past + made)

ALL CLEAR?

Hello, Room 5.

Hi. I'd like to make a reservation for Saturday night.

A: Sure. What time?

B: 7:30 for six people.

A: And your name?

B: Rose.

A: OK. That will be six people for 7:30 on Saturday night. See you then.

B: Thanks a lot.

A: Hello, Seaside Hotel.

B: Hi. I'd like to make a reservation for two people on July first.

A: Could you please hold on a minute? I'll connect you with reservations.

- Your Turn sections enhance comprehension by giving students the chance to personalize and connect expressions to their own lives and experiences.
- Pronunciation opportunities in every lesson allow students to practice conversation skills.

viii A Walk-Through Guide

2. Grammar Practice

Follow the directions and complete the sentences.

Directions

a. The past tense.

1. Last year, they (go) _____ away for the whole summer.
 b. We (take) _____ a trip to the mountains for the weekend.
 c. I wasn't here for the morning because I had _____ on vacation last week.
 d. I (enjoyed, love) _____ my vacation in July. I (have) _____ it in August.
 e. We (go) _____ swimming in a river. We (enjoyed, go) _____ swimming in a lake.
 f. The place (enjoyed, be) _____ crowded.
 g. I (make) _____ the reservation for 8:05.

3. Add a preposition.

a. Mom! You went away _____ a month?
 b. She went _____ South America.
 c. They're not home. They're _____ vacation.
 d. I need to go _____ walk. I need exercise.
 e. Stay for dinner. Don't worry. We have plenty _____ food.
 f. Did you make a reservation _____ 7 o'clock or _____?
 g. His phone ticket cost a lot _____ money.

5. Add an article.

a. He went on _____ short trip to his native country.
 b. They took _____ expensive vacation.
 c. Let's take _____ long walk.
 d. I need to make _____ reservation.
 e. _____ lot of people travel to the summer.

3. Error Correction

Find the errors and make corrections. Every item has one mistake.

- We went for a walk yesterday.
- It's a beautiful day. Let's go for walk.
- They took a walked yesterday.
- They go to shopping every Sunday morning.
- Our teacher gives us plenty homework.
- The party very crowded. Let's go home.
- There are a lot people at the party.
- There is lots good food at the party.
- There are plenty drinks at the party.

50 Let's Go Away for the Weekend!

- Grammar Practice sections in every lesson teach students how to use expressions in complete, correct sentences.

- Error Correction sections provide editing practice.

- Opportunities for role-playing, group work and delivering speeches increase oral communication skills while meeting state standards.

8. Info Gap—

How was your summer?

Imagine that the summer is over and now you are back at school. You see a friend and talk about your summer.

One of you will be Speaker 1 and the other will be Speaker 2.

Speaker 1 will look at page 173 and Speaker 2 will look at page 174. You will have different information to give each other. Don't look at your partner's page.

When you finish, find a new partner and tell that person about your first partner's summer.

9. Write a Dialogue

Work on your own or with a partner. Write a conversation between Bonnie and her husband Ed. Bonnie is suggesting that they go away because they work too much and are very tired. Use at least five of the expressions from the box.

Start with "Why don't we..." (Also, try to use some expressions from other lessons that you studied.)

go away	go on a trip	take a trip	take a vacation	take walks
What else?	plenty of	be crowded	make a reservation	lots of

54 Let's Go Away for the Weekend!

10. I called the restaurant and make a reservation for four people.
 11. The store is closed. They are in vacation for two weeks.
 12. They go on trip to San Francisco every year.

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

Peter from the introductory conversation is now talking to his friend Bonnie at work. It is Monday, and he is telling her about the great weekend that he had with his wife, Alice.

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. When you finish, perform the conversation with a partner.

PETER: Hi, Bonnie. How was your weekend?
 BONNIE: Pretty good. I stayed home and relaxed. How about you? Did you and Alice (1) _____?
 PETER: Uh-huh. We found a small town near the beach and stayed in a nice motel for three nights. It was great, and it wasn't expensive.
 BONNIE: What did you do at the beach? Wasn't it cold?
 PETER: Yeah, a little. We didn't (2) _____. And we got (3) _____ fresh air.
 BONNIE: That sounds great. At this time of year, it probably (5) _____.
 PETER: No, it wasn't.
 BONNIE: So, (6) _____ did you do?
 PETER: Well, let's see... on Sunday night, we (7) _____ at a club, and on Sunday we (8) _____.
 BONNIE: It was a lot of fun.
 PETER: It sounds like you had a great weekend. Can you give me the name of the motel? Maybe Ed and I can go there sometime.

55 Let's Go Away for the Weekend!

10. Tic-Tac-Toe

a. Your teacher will put tic-tac-toe lines on the board, with expressions in the nine spaces.

b. The class should be divided into two teams, X and O. Flip a coin (choose "heads or tails") to see which team goes first.

c. To get an X or an O in a space, a team has to make a sentence with the expression in that space. The sentence should be correct in grammar and meaning. Team members can plan what they will say for up to 30 seconds. Students should take turns giving the answers.

d. The first team to get three X's or O's in a straight line wins. The line can be horizontal (+), vertical (|), or diagonal (/) (\).

e. When you finish a game, if there are any expressions that are not covered by X's or O's, you can keep them for another game. You can add other expressions to the spaces already used and play again.

go away for	take a trip to	went shopping
took a walk	on vacation	plenty of
be crowded	make a reservation	lots of

56 Let's Go Away for the Weekend!

- More communicative activities emphasize the practical uses of expressions in everyday conversations.

All Clear 1— Listening and Speaking is the new edition of All Clear! Intro. Because the material in All Clear 1 focuses on listening, speaking, and pronunciation in addition to vocabulary, this revised text would be appropriate in the following types of classes at the high-beginning and intermediate level: listening/speaking, vocabulary, and pronunciation.

It was in the early 1980s when I wrote the first All Clear, which focused on idioms, and it is refreshing today to see such great interest in teaching with a lexical approach. While the initial focus of each lesson in this text is on lexical chunks of language, students gain practice in all skill areas: listening, speaking, pronunciation, grammar, reading and writing.

All Clear 1 differs from All Clear 2 and 3 in that this text does not teach expressions that are highly idiomatic. The focus here is instead on very common phrases and expressions needed by students at this level.

It is well-known that in listening/speaking classes, it can be difficult to give homework and test and grade students because of the nature of the many open-ended activities. The inclusion of vocabulary, in the form of phrases and expressions, brings in more concrete language material that can be easily assigned as homework and subsequently assessed.

All Clear 1

- exposes students to conversational situations that can serve as a basis for conversation practice, often with a cross-cultural focus.
- provides many structured and communicative activities for speaking, listening, grammar, writing, and pronunciation practice.
- teaches students to recognize and produce high-frequency phrases and expressions.
- contextualizes the study of pronunciation by integrating it with the study of expressions.

All Clear 1 starts with an icebreaker activity, and is then divided into eight lessons, four review sections, a pronunciation section, and twelve appendices.

Icebreaker

To get to know each other, students mill around and ask each other questions based on information taken from student questionnaires completed at the previous class meeting. A sample questionnaire and sample Find Someone Who . . . activity are provided. With the latter, you will need to decide whether to provide the yes-no questions or have your students construct them.

Lessons

The lessons integrate listening, speaking, pronunciation, grammar, and writing, while focusing on teaching common expressions. Throughout each lesson, students are given opportunities to be very active and involved learners. Varied activities and numerous visuals are designed to reach students with a range of learning styles.

It is possible to move through the text in random order. Each lesson is independent, except in one area: pronunciation. If you plan to make pronunciation a substantial component of your course, you might prefer to follow the lessons in order because the pronunciation points build upon one another. The pronunciation part of each lesson appears in a separate section towards the back of the text.

You might want to start with Lesson I because it has more detailed instructions than the other lessons.

Warm-Up

Students answer questions about their opinions or personal experience related to the lesson theme.

Focused Listening

Before You Listen: Students look at a cartoon and try to guess what the characters are saying.

As You Listen: Students listen to a conversation with their books closed, and then answer two general questions about the main idea. They listen again as they read the conversation.

After You Listen: To check their comprehension of details, students complete a short exercise.

Understanding the New Expressions

This section teaches the meanings, forms, and uses of expressions that appear in the introductory conversation.

- Meanings are revealed in explanations, mini-dialogues, and example sentences.
- Related expressions (those that are similar or opposite in appearance and/or meaning) are included.
- Grammar and pronunciation notes call students' attention to details about expressions. Notes about usage are also included.
- Your Turn activities make this section interactive. Students immediately have opportunities to work with each other and use the new expressions.
- One Your Turn: Listening Challenge per lesson provides an additional listening opportunity.
- Students evaluate their understanding of expressions by indicating whether or not the meanings are all clear.

Exercises

Students do exercises individually, in pairs, and in groups. When students work in groups, you might want to assign roles: leader, reporter, timekeeper, participant. Group leaders should make sure that students know each other's names, that everyone participates in a balanced way, and that the group stays on task and completes the activity at hand.

The ten exercises move from structured to communicative. (The exercises with an asterisk appear on the audio program.)

Focus on Form and Meaning

1. Mini-Dialogues (matching): In the mini-dialogues, students see the expressions in new contexts that help them understand the meanings of the expressions.*
2. Grammar Practice: Given specific directions to use certain parts of speech or change verb tenses, students focus on form.
3. Error Correction: Students continue to focus on form as they analyze sentences with errors.
4. Listen and Write Expressions (fill-in): As they listen, students insert expressions into a new conversation.
5. Write Sentences: In this less structured exercise, students have the opportunity to use the new expressions in individual sentences or dialogues.
6. Dictation: For more listening practice, students listen to a summary of the introductory conversation. Key words are provided to help with spelling.*

Focus on Communication

7. Walk and Talk: In this communicative exercise, students mill around and ask their classmates a variety of questions, some of which are based on the lesson theme, and some of which require the use of expressions. As a follow-up, students write their own or other students' responses to the questions.
8. The focus of this activity varies. Students have opportunities to conduct group surveys, participate in role plays, do an information gap activity, or take what they have learned to the outside world in a contact assignment.
9. Write a Dialogue: Given an illustration and a new context, students create dialogues with some of the expressions that they have studied.
10. Games and Puzzles: In word searches, unscrambling activities, and Tic-Tac-Toe games, students have fun using what they have learned.

At the end of each lesson, speech topics related to the lesson theme are suggested. In addition, individual students sit on the Hot Seat where they respond to questions from their classmates.

Review Sections

After every two lessons, a "Collocation Match-Up" exercise and a crossword puzzle provide students with opportunities for review.

Pronunciation Section

This section, which usually focuses on suprasegmentals (stress, intonation and rhythm), appears towards the back of the text. This allows the teacher to introduce this material if time allows and at whatever time point in a lesson it may be appropriate. The contexts of the pronunciation exercises come from each lesson, providing students with meaningful material for practice.

Appendices

- Appendices A–D provide necessary information for specific parts of lessons.
- Appendices E–F provide supplementary information that can be incorporated into instruction whenever you wish. You might want to introduce your students to Appendix E, Classroom Language, at the beginning of your course. And if you would like to focus on the pronunciation of vowels and consonants (not covered in the pronunciation section), you can refer to Appendix F.
- Appendices G and H relate to study skills. These appendices include information on how to create vocabulary cards and how to cluster and organize expressions as students learn them. Appendices I and J provide one verbal and visual way for students to assess their learning.
- Appendices K and L provide systems for documenting expressions that students hear and read outside of class.

Audio Program

The audio program uses natural speech to present the following from each lesson:

- | | |
|-----------------------------|---|
| • Introductory Conversation | • Exercise 4—Listen and Write the Expressions |
| • Listening Challenge | • Exercise 6—Dictation |
| • Exercise 1—Mini-Dialogues | • Pronunciation |

I hope that you and your students enjoy using All Clear I, and I welcome your comments and suggestions.

Helen Kalkstein Fragiadakis
Contra Costa College
San Pablo, California

Dear Student,

Welcome to All Clear I Listening and Speaking. I hope that you have a good time using this book.

As a student of English, you know that you need to learn a lot of new vocabulary. In this book, you will learn a lot of vocabulary but you won't learn just words—you will learn groups of words called expressions.

Here are some example of expressions:

- take a walk
- go to bed
- be afraid of
- pick someone up

You will study what these expressions mean. You will also learn to pronounce them. And you will learn about using these expressions with the correct grammar. You will have a lot of listening and speaking practice, too.

When you use this book, you will talk a lot and have fun.

I wish you good luck, and I hope that you find this book to be all clear.

Sincerely,

Helen Kalkstein Fragiadakis

Directions

1. At the first class meeting, the students (and maybe also the teacher) should fill out the questionnaire below (or an adapted form).
2. At the second class, the students Walk and Talk, using the form on the next page. The items they ask are their responses taken from the questionnaires that they filled out at the first class meeting.

STUDENT QUESTIONNAIRE

What is your name? (Last) _____ (First) _____

What name do you want everyone to call you in class? _____

Where are you from? _____

What is your native language? _____

How long have you been in this English-speaking country? _____

OR

Have you ever been in a country where English is the main language?

☐ Yes ☐ No

If yes, where? _____

What language or languages do you speak at home? _____

Do you work? _____

If yes, what do you do? _____

Are you a high school or college student? ☐ Yes ☐ No

If yes, what are you studying? _____

What do you like to do in your free time?

What is something interesting about you or someone in your family?

What do you want to learn in this class?

Is there anything that you would like to add? If yes, please write it here.

Stand up, get out of your seat, and get to know your classmates. Find out the information in this Walk and Talk activity by talking to at least five different students. The questions you ask are based on the student questionnaires that you previously completed.

Steps

- Get up and ask a student the first question.
If the student says "Yes," then ask "What's your (first) name?" If necessary, also ask "How do you spell that?" Then write the student's first name on the line at the right. If a student says "No," say "Thanks anyway" and move on to another student.
- Continue until you have a name next to each question.
- After everyone is finished, your teacher can ask for the names of students who said 'Yes' to each question and ask them for more information.

What's Wrong?

Theme:
Starting a New Class

Warm-Up

Answer these questions with a partner or in a small group.

1. If this is your first day or first week of school,

a. are you excited?	Yes	A little	No
b. are you worried about homework and tests?	Yes	A little	No
c. do you feel nervous? (=do you have butterflies in your stomach?)	Yes	A little	No
2. In your native country, do students stand up when the teacher enters the room? If yes, do you think it's a good idea?
3. In your native country, is it possible for students to call their teachers by their first name? What name does the teacher of this class want you to use?

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoon on page 1. It is the first day of school. Andrea and Eric are talking to each other. What do you think they are saying?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation between Andrea and Eric to find the answers to these questions.

What is Eric worried about? How does Andrea help him?

- (B) Listen again, but this time read the conversation as you listen.

ANDREA: What's wrong, Eric?

ERIC: I'm really nervous. I'm always this way on the first day of school.

ANDREA: You're not the only one. It's hard for me, too. I'm glad we're taking this class together.

ERIC: Do you know anything about the teacher?

ANDREA: Uh-huh, a little. Someone told me she gives a lot of homework, and you have to talk a lot in class.

ERIC: Oh, no! I'm afraid of talking in front of a lot of people.

ANDREA: Oh, don't worry. Everyone's afraid at the beginning, but after you get to know the people and make friends . . .

ERIC: It doesn't get better for me. I'm shy. I have trouble looking at people when I talk, and my hands shake.

ANDREA: Look . . . the teacher's here. Let's talk after class.

Uh-huh = yes
Uh-uh = no

After You Listen

- (A) Read the sentences about the conversation. Circle T for true, F for false, or ? if you don't know.

- | | | | |
|--|---|---|---|
| 1. Eric is worried and shy, and Andrea is helping him. | T | F | ? |
| 2. Andrea is not nervous. | T | F | ? |
| 3. Eric will make many friends in this class. | T | F | ? |

4. The teacher wants students to talk in this class. T F ?
 5. Eric and Andrea are best friends. T F ?

- (B) Say the conversation in pairs. Then have two students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask questions about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

1. What's wrong? = What's the matter?—Ask this question when you see a person with a problem.

A: What's wrong?

B: I have a headache.

I feel sick.

My test was hard.

I'm tired.

My car doesn't work.

I'm angry with my sister.

Similar Expression: What's wrong with = What's the matter with (someone or something)?

A: What's wrong with your son? He looks unhappy.

B: He is. He doesn't want to go to the doctor today.

A: What's wrong with the computer?

B: I don't know. I dropped it and now it doesn't work.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

Think about your friends and family. When do you say, "What's wrong?"

I ask "What's wrong?" when someone is crying.
someone looks sad.
someone is _____.
someone looks _____.

ALL CLEAR ?

2. táke (a/this/that) cláss/táke clásses—when you are in a class you take it.
(past = took)

- I'm taking this class because it's very interesting.
- I took that class last semester.
- I'm taking:
 - only one class because I have a job.
 - three classes, so I have a lot of homework.

Your Turn

Answer in full sentences.

- How many classes are you taking right now?

- What class(es) are you taking?

- Did you take any classes last year?
(If yes, add how many classes you took last year.)
(If no, say why you didn't take any classes last year.)

3. háve to/don't have to—Say “have to” to show that something is necessary. (past = had to/didn't have to)

Grammar Notes: After the infinitive to, always use the simple form of the verb. For example, it is correct to say, “In school, a student has to go to classes.” It is not correct to say, “has to goes,” and it is not correct to say “had to went.” Look at the two lists below:

In school, you	a student (he/she) have to	has to had to	had to go to classes	go to classes study	study
do homework	do homework
talk in class	talk in class
take tests	take tests

Pronunciation: You don't have to say this, but many native speakers say:
I/you/we/they “have to” = “hafta” she/he/it “has to” = “hasta”

Your Turn

What are things that teachers and students have to and don't have to do?

Students have to _____

A teacher has to _____ Students don't have to _____

A teacher doesn't have to _____

4. be afraid of (+ noun)—Use this expression when you are frightened by something. (past = was or were)

ALL CLEAR ?

CONTRACTIONS WITH BE

Affirmative

I am/I'm he is/he's she is/she's it is/it's we are/we're you are/you're they are/they're

Negative (Present)

I'm not he's not/he isn't she's not/she isn't it's not/it isn't we're not/we aren't you're not/you aren't they're not/they aren't

Negative (Past)

I wasn't he wasn't she wasn't it wasn't we weren't you weren't they weren't

Grammar Note: Use a noun or gerund (verb + ING) after afraid of:

be afraid of + noun

I'm afraid of earthquakes.
He isn't afraid of you.
We're afraid of tests.
She wasn't afraid of the big dog,
but she is afraid of it now.
They were afraid of snakes when they were young.

be afraid of + verb + ING

I'm not afraid of flying.
He's afraid of walking alone at night.
We aren't afraid of taking the test.
She was afraid of getting married, but she isn't afraid now.
They weren't afraid of talking to the teacher, but they are now.

Your Turn

In the left column, write what you are and are not afraid of. Then get into a group with two classmates. In the other columns, write what they are and are not afraid of.

You	Classmate 1	Classmate 2
I'm afraid of _____ (noun)	_____ is afraid of _____ (noun)	_____ is afraid of _____ (noun)
I'm not afraid of _____ (noun)	_____ isn't afraid of _____ (noun)	_____ isn't afraid of _____ (noun)
I'm afraid of _____ (verb + ING)	_____ is afraid of _____ (verb + ING)	_____ is afraid of _____ (verb + ING)
I'm not afraid of _____ (verb + ING)	_____ isn't afraid of _____ (verb + ING)	_____ isn't afraid of _____ (verb + ING)

Write sentences about you and your two classmates. Start your sentences with some of the following:

We are all afraid of _____.

None of us are afraid of _____.

_____ and I are (aren't) afraid of _____.

They are both afraid of _____.

They aren't afraid of _____.

5. Dón't wórry (about)—Use this expression to help someone not be afraid of something.

A: I don't want to fly.

B: Don't worry! Flying is safe.

A: Don't worry about the test. You'll do a good job.

B: I hope so.

A: Don't worry about me. I know what to do.

B: Good. I'm glad to hear that.

B: Don't worry!

A: What are you worried about?

B: I'm _____.

ALL CLEAR ?

6. at the beginning (of)—Use this expression when you want to talk about what happened at the start of an event.

- I was at a party last Saturday. At the beginning, everyone was quiet. But after an hour, the party was noisy.
- At the beginning of the party, everyone was quiet.

Contrast the Opposite: = at the end (of)

- The party was quiet at the beginning, but it was noisy at the end.
- At the end of the party, everyone was happy.

Your Turn

Ask a partner these questions. Write his or her answers in complete sentences.

- How do you feel at the beginning of summer?
- How do you feel at the end of summer?

ALL CLEAR ?

7. get to know (a person or people) = start to know more and more about someone (past = got)

TEACHER: I want to get to know you, so I'm going to ask you a few questions, OK?

STUDENT: OK.

TEACHER: Where are you from? What do you do? Do you like living here?

A: How's your class?

B: It's great. I'm getting to know more students, so I'm happy.

Your Turn: Listening Challenge

Listen to the short conversation. Two people are asking questions because they want to get to know each other. Which question is first? Which question is second? As you hear each question, put a number on the line.

- | | |
|----------------------------|---|
| _____ Where are you from? | _____ And you? |
| _____ Why not? | _____ How about you? |
| _____ What's your name? | _____ When did you come to the United States? |
| _____ Do you like it here? | |

8. máke friénds (with)—First you meet a person, and then maybe you will make friends with him or her. To do this, you ask questions to get to know each other, and if you like each other, you “make friends.” (past = made)

- A: I'm not happy here. I don't know anyone.
B: You need to make friends. When you have some friends, you'll feel better.
- A: It's hard to make friends with people here. People say they will call or visit, but they don't.
B: I know. But you can make friends. You just need time.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn: Walk and talk

Walk around the classroom and ask four different students the questions below. Ask each student one question. Take short notes about what they say. When you finish, share what students said with the class.

Questions	Notes
1. Does it take a long time for you to make friends, or do you make friends easily (with no trouble)? Why?	Name: _____
2. In what kinds of places can you make friends?	Name: _____
3. How can you make friends? What can you say?	Name: _____
4. When you were younger, did you make friends with people that your parents liked or didn't like? Give an example.	Name: _____

ALL CLEAR ?

9. gét bétter = improve (past = got)

- I had a bad cold, but I got better quickly.

A: It's very hard for me to speak English.

B: Don't worry. Your English will get better every day.

A: I wasn't happy here when I first arrived, but my life got better and I'm happy now.

B: That's good to hear.

Your Turn

Complete these sentences. Share your writing with a partner. Give your partner some details to explain what you are saying.

- My life can get better if _____.
(Use a subject + present tense verb.)
- My life got (better) (worse) when _____.
(Use a subject + past tense verb.)
because _____.
(Use a subject + past tense verb.)

ALL CLEAR ?

10. At the end the story, everyone was sad.
11. Don't worry. You will meet many new friends at your school.
12. You don't have trouble speak English.

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

Now it's after class, and Andrea and Eric are having lunch in the cafeteria. They are talking about their first class.

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. Be sure to use a capital letter at the beginning of each sentence. When you finish, perform the conversation with a partner.

- ERIC: (1) _____, Andrea?
- ANDREA: Now (2) _____ our class. The teacher said we (3) _____ do a lot of homework.
- ERIC: (4) _____! I can help you. I think the class will be good, and we're going to (5) _____ there.
- ANDREA: Eric, you're funny. (6) _____, you (7) _____, and now you're fine. What happened?
- ERIC: I don't know. I enjoyed talking to the students, and I want to (8) _____ them. Maybe I won't (9) _____ talking in this class. I wasn't very nervous after the first five minutes.
- ANDREA: That's great. I can see you're happy that you (10) _____ this class. I think your English will (11) _____ very quickly.
- ERIC: I hope you're right.

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson. Use the New Expression Collection list on page 11.

6. Dictation

You will hear the dictation three times. First, just listen. Second, as you listen, write the dictation on a piece of paper. Skip lines. Third, check what you wrote.

Key Words: Eric, nervous, afraid, friends

After the dictation

Proofread

- Did you indent the first line of each paragraph?
- Does every sentence start with a capital letter?
- Do the names have capital letters?
- Does each sentence end with a period?

Check what you wrote.

- Circle your mistakes. Don't erase them.
- Look at your mistakes. What do you have to be more careful about next time?

_____ spelling _____ vocabulary

_____ plurals

_____ verb tenses _____ subject-verb agreement _____ punctuation

_____ Other: _____

7. Walk and Talk

1. Use the following dialogue to get to know at least four of your classmates. Walk around the room and complete the conversation with different students.

A: Hi, I'm _____. What's your name?

B: I'm _____. It's nice to meet you.

A: Nice to meet you, too. Where are you from?

B: I'm from _____. How about you?

A: I come from _____. Do you have trouble speaking English?

B: Sometimes. That's why I'm taking this class.

A: It's the same for me. Well, it was nice talking to you. See you later.

B: See you.

2. Write sentences about the four students you talked to in Number 1. For example:

a. Mario is from . . .

b. Chen comes from . . .

c. Sachiyo sometimes has trouble . . .

d. Kate is taking this class because . . .

8. Group Survey

1. Work in groups of three or four. Write the first names of the group members on the top lines of the chart. Choose one student to be the leader. The leader will interview one person at a time. Each student in the group will listen and write short notes under each person's name.

Notes are . . .

- (1) short—not full sentences.
- (2) just a few words so you can remember information later.

Culture Note

When you are listening, make eye contact, nod, and smile. In the United States, eye contact shows that you are interested.

Questions	Student Name	Student Name	Student Name	Student Name
1. Why are you taking this class?
2. Is there anything about this class that you are afraid of? If yes, what? Why?
3. What do you have to do so your listening and speaking will get better?
4. What do you have the most trouble with in English? Why?

2. Choose one student to be the reporter. The reporter tells the class some of your group's answers. The reporter should look at the class and not read. It is not necessary to say students' names when giving this report.

Culture Note

When you are speaking, make eye contact with your listeners.

Examples:

Students in my group are taking this class because . . .

One person in my group is afraid of . . .

Two people in my group are going to . . . so their listening and speaking will get better.

We have trouble with . . .

9. Write a Dialogue

Write a conversation on your own or with a partner. Give the people names, and use at least five of the expressions from the box.

Start with "What's wrong?"

have to at the beginning make friends get better be afraid of

at the end have trouble

don't worry get to know be worried about

10. Word Search

Complete the underlined expressions. Then find the complete expressions in the puzzle. The words can be spelled backwards. They can also be vertical (↓), horizontal (↔), or diagonal (↗) (↖).

- I. You look upset. What's _____?
2. At the _____ of the party, I was quiet.
3. At the _____ of the party, I was tired because I danced a lot.
4. They _____ trouble understanding TV programs.
5. She said you have a cold. I hope you _____ better soon.
- 6/7. It's hard to _____ friends, but we have _____ try.
8. He wants to _____ a class so he can learn to cook.
9. I want to _____ to know everyone in my class.
10. _____ about your English!
11. Are you _____ about school?

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- A class that I once took
- A time that I was afraid (or nervous)
- Classroom customs in my native country

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the “Hot Seat” (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the “Hot Seat.” This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

Who's This?

Theme: Making Telephone Invitations

Warm-Up

Answer these questions with a partner or in a small group.

- How do you feel when you speak English on the phone?
- What is more difficult for you—having a conversation on the phone in English, or leaving someone a recorded message in English? Why?

Circle what you think are the correct answers.

1. When you want to ask who is calling you, you can say:
 - (a) Who are you?
 - (b) Who's this?
2. When you say your name on the phone, you can say:
 - (a) I am ____.
 - (b) This is ____.
3. When you ask someone on the phone to wait, you can say:
 - (a) Wait please.
 - (b) Just a minute.

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the right side of the cartoon above. Alex and Sara are talking on the phone. What do you think they are saying?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation between Anna and Alex and then Alex and Sara to find the answers to these questions.

Why is Alex calling?

Does Sara want to see Alex?

- (B) Listen again, but this time read the conversation as you listen.

ANNA: Hello.

(SARA'S SISTER)

ALEX: Hi, Sara.

ANNA: Who's this?

ALEX: It's Alex.

ANNA: Oh, hi, Alex. This is Anna. Hold on a minute and I'll get Sara . . . Sara, it's for you! . . .

SARA: I'll be right there . . . Alex? Hi!

ALEX: Hi, Sara. Want to go to the movies Friday night?

SARA: I'm really sorry, but I can't make it Friday night . . . How about Saturday?

ALEX: Sure. Why don't I pick you up at 7:00?

SARA: That sounds great. Oh, Alex, I'm sorry. My parents are calling me for dinner and I have to get off. See you Saturday.

ALEX: Great. See you. Bye.

After You Listen

- (A) Answer these questions with short yes or no answers. Use is, are, does, or can (and their negative forms if necessary). Check your answers with a partner.

1. Is Alex calling Sara? Yes, he is.
2. Is Anna Sara's sister? _____
3. Does Alex want to go to the movies with Sara? _____
4. Does Alex want to go to the movies with Anna? _____
5. Can Sara go to the movies on Friday night? _____
6. Can she go to the movies on Saturday night? _____
7. Is Alex going to drive? _____

8. Is Sara going to drive? _____
9. Are Sara and Anna going to have dinner soon? _____

- (B) Say the conversation with two other students. Then have three students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask questions about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

1. Whó's this? = Who is this?—You can ask this when you don't know who is calling on the phone.

Note: When you don't know who is at the door, you ask, "Who's there?" or "Who is it?"

A: Hi. Can (Or: May) I please speak to Daniel? (Or: Can/May I speak to Daniel, please?)

B: Who's this?

A: It's Melissa.

Similar Expressions: Whó's cálling? Can I ásk whó's cálling? May I ásk whó's cálling?

These expressions are formal. They are usually used by businesses and people who don't know each other.

More Formal

- Hello.
- Who's calling?
- Mr. Brown

InFormal

Hi.
Who's this?
Jim

Your Turn

What are the best questions to ask in these telephone conversations?

- A: Computers Incorporated.
B: Hello. May I please speak to Ms. Williams?
A: _____?
B: This is her son.
A: One moment, please.

A: Hello.
B: Hi. Can I speak to Steve, please?
A: _____?
B: It's his sister.
A: Sure. Just a sec. (Just a second.)

ALL CLEAR ?

2. It's _; This is _. You say these expressions after someone asks you, "Who's this?"

Note: It is not correct to say "I am" when you give your name on the phone.

- A: Hello.
B: Hello. May I speak to Alex Nicholas, please?
A: This is Alex. (OR: This is he. OR: Speaking.)
B: This is Bill from Computers Incorporated. I'm calling to tell you that your computer is ready.

A: Hello.
B: Hi. May I please speak to Sara?
A: Who's this?
B: It's Alex. (OR: This is Alex.)
A: Just a moment. (OR: I'm sorry. Sara can't come to the phone right now. Can I take a message?)

Culture Note

It is more polite to say someone "can't come to the phone right now" than to say someone is "busy."

Your Turn

Have a phone conversation with a partner. Use one of the dialogues above as a model. Your partner will answer the phone, and you will ask to speak to a famous person. Your partner will ask who you are.

- A: Hello.
B: _____
A: _____
B: _____
A: _____

3. hold on—Say this when a person calls and you want that person to wait a minute. (past = held)

Note: It is not correct to say "Wait."

ALL CLEAR ?

- A: Hello.
B: Hello. This is Melissa. May I speak to Daniel, please?
A: Sure. Hold on and I'll get him.

Sometimes when you are on the phone with a business, you will hear this:

- Doctor's Office. Can you hold?
- Please hold, and someone will be with you shortly (soon).

Related Telephone Expressions:

- answer the phone or answer it
- get the phone or get it = answer the phone or answer it
- hang up = finish your call and put the receiver (the part that you hold next to your ear) back on the phone (past = hung)

- Daniel, the phone's ringing. Can you answer (get) it?
— Alex, when are you going to hang up? I need to use the phone!

Pronunciation: When you say answer, don't pronounce the 'w.'

Note: You can also "hang up" clothes in a closet on a clothes hanger.

Your Turn

Finish these three dialogues with “hold on,” “answer the phone,” and “hang up.”

A: Wait! Don't _____! I want to talk to him.

B: OK. Don't worry. He wants to talk to you, too.

A: Anna. Can you _____? My hands are wet.

B: Sure. Hello . . .

A: Hi, can I please speak to Jon?

B: Sure. _____.

- A: I'm late because I was in traffic for two hours.
B: That sound terrible!
- Sorry. I need to get of the phone because it's time for dinner.
- Julie — This telephone call is for you!

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

Alex and Sara had dinner together on Saturday. Now it's Sunday and they are talking on the phone.

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. Be sure to use a capital letter at the beginning of a sentence. When you finish, perform the conversation with two classmates.

SARA'S SISTER: Hello.

ALEX: Hi. Can I speak to Sara, please?

SARA'S SISTER: (1) _____?

ALEX: (2) _____ Alex.

SARA'S SISTER: (3) _____ a second . . . Sara!

(4) _____! It's Alex.

SARA: (5) _____ . . . Hi, Alex.

ALEX: Hi, Sara. How are you doing?

SARA: Fine. How about you?

ALEX: Pretty good. I had a really great time last night.

SARA: I did too. That's a great restaurant.

ALEX: I know. (6) _____
we go back there next weekend?

SARA: (7) _____ great. When?

ALEX: Is Friday OK? I can (8) _____ at 7:00 again.

SARA: Why don't I drive this time? I'll pick you up at 7:00.

ALEX: That's fine with me. I'll be waiting for you. Take care . . .

SARA: Alex? Wait . . . Don't (9) _____.
There's one more thing. Last week, you paid for dinner.
This time, I want to pay.

ALEX: Sara! No!

SARA: Yes! Listen, . . .

Culture Question

In your native country, can a woman be the driver when there is a man in the car?
When a man and woman are out to dinner, can the woman pay?

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson.
Use the New Expression Collection list on page 28.

6. Dictation

You will hear the dictation three times. First, just listen. Second, as you listen, write the dictation on a piece of paper. Skip lines. Third, check what you wrote.

Key Words: answers, Saturday, restaurant

After the dictation

Proofread

- Did you indent the first line of each paragraph?
- Does every sentence start with a capital letter?
- Do the names have capital letters?
- Does each sentence end with a period?

Check what you wrote

- Circle your mistakes. Don't erase them.
- Look at your mistakes. What do you have to be more careful about next time?

___ spelling ___ vocabulary ___ plurals ___ verb tenses ___ subject-verb agreement ___ punctuation
Other: _____

Punctuation words:

period .
comma , open quote "

7. Walk and Talk

1. Ask two students from the other side of your classroom the questions below. Take short notes in the chart.

Ask: What's your first name? How do you spell it?

	Classmate 1	Classmate 2
About Phones 1. What kinds of phones do you and your family have? 2. What kinds of things can your phone do? 3. What kind of phone do you think is the best? Why?
About Invitations In Exercise 4, Sara told Alex that she wanted to drive and that she wanted to pay for dinner. 4. Do you think it's OK for a woman to be the driver when she is in a car with a man? Why or why not? (And how do you feel about female pilots?) 5. Do you think it's OK for a woman to ask a man for a date? Why or why not? 6. Do you think it's OK for a woman to pay when she is on a date? Why or why not?

2. Write six sentences about what one of the students said to you in Number 1 above. For example:

____'s phone can ____.

____ thinks it's OK for a woman to ask a man for a date because ____.

8. Role Play: Giving an Invitation

Directions:

1. Get into groups of four. Two students will be Listeners, and the other two students will be Phone Partners A and B. The Phone Partners will put their chairs back-to-back, just as you see in the cartoon. On their desks, they should have the list of Lesson 2 expressions from page 28.

2. Phone Partner A: Call Phone Partner B. Ask how he or she is and then invite him or her to do something this weekend.

Phone Partner B: Tell A that you can't make it on Saturday, but that you can make it on Sunday. Talk about the details of your plans.

Listeners: Keep a paper and pen on your desk. Write down expressions from this lesson as you hear the Phone Partners use them.

3. Listeners: After the Phone Partners finish their conversation, share the list of the new expressions that you heard. Comment on the conversation.

4. Reverse roles. Listeners become Phone Partners and repeat steps 1 to 3.

Places to go:

to the city out to dinner to the movies

Things to do:

go dancing go shopping study together

Starting lines	Ending lines
Ring . . . A: Hello. B: Hi. This is Can I please speak to . . . ?	A: Well, thanks for calling. B: My pleasure. See you

9. Write a Dialogue

The girl on the couch has just answered the phone. The call is for her brother. The person calling invites her brother to go out and do something, but he doesn't want to or can't go. You decide. Write a conversation on your own or with a partner. Give the people names, and use at least five of the expressions from the box.

Start with "Hello." (Also, try to use some expressions from Lesson 1.)

Who's this?

pick up

This is ____ That sounds ____.

hold on get off

It's for you!

can't make it

10. Unscramble and Find the Secret Message

Unscramble the words and write them in the puzzle. Then find the secret message at the bottom of the page.

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- An electronic item that I own (e.g., phone, computer, MP3 player).
(Talk about how it works, what it can do, or how it changed your life.)
- Male and female roles at home and at work in my native country.

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the “Hot Seat” (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the “Hot Seat.” This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

Let's Go Away For the Weekend!

Theme: Making Plans for the Weekend

Warm-Up

Answer these questions with a partner or in a small group.

What do you like to do when you have free time? Look at the 12 activities below. Next to each, write a number (1, 2, or 3) to show if you don't like it, if it's just OK, or if you like it a lot.

I don't like it.

2

It's just OK.

I like it a lot.

_____ 1. go to the movies

_____ 5. go swimming

_____ 9. take walks

_____ 2. go to the beach

_____ 6. go shopping

_____ 10. play soccer

_____ 3. go to the park

_____ 7. go jogging

_____ 11. read a book

_____ 4. go to the mall

_____ 8. go hiking

_____ 12. clean my room

When you finish, tell members of your group what you like to do and what you don't like to do. For example, you can say:

When I have free time, I like to _____.

I don't like to _____.

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoon on page 39. Peter and Alice are talking about going away for a weekend. What do you think they are saying?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation between Peter and Alice to find the answers to these questions.

Where are they going to go next month?

What season (fall, winter, spring, or summer) is it now?

- (B) Listen again, but this time read the conversation as you listen.

Culture Note

Many holidays in the U.S.A. are on Fridays or Mondays so we can have "three-day weekends." Is it the same in your native country?

PETER: You know, we have a three-day weekend next month. Do you want to go away?

ALICE: That's a great idea! Where do you want to go?

PETER: To the beach.

ALICE: The beach in the winter?

PETER: We don't have to go swimming. We can take walks on the beach.

ALICE: But what else can we do?

PETER: Oh, there are plenty of things to do. We can read, go to the movies. I need to relax, don't you?

ALICE: I sure do. You're right. The beach is a good idea. And it won't be crowded. Do you think we need to make a reservation anywhere?

PETER: No, I don't think so. There are lots of places to stay. And they'll be cheaper now than they are in the summer.

After You Listen

(A) Below are details about the introductory conversation. Circle T for true, F for false, or ? if you don't know.

- | | |
|---|-----------|
| 1. Peter and Alice will go away for a week. | T F ? |
| 2. Alice is surprised because Peter wants to go to the beach in the winter. | T F ? |
| 3. Alice doesn't want to go to the beach in the winter. | T F ? |
| 4. Peter and Alice go away often. | T F ? |
| 5. There will be many people at the beach. | T F ? |

(B) Say the conversation in pairs. Then have two students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask questions about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

1. gó awáy (for)—Use this expression to describe when you leave home and sleep in a different place for one or more nights. (past = went)

ALL CLEAR ?

Pronunciation: When you say went away, connect the two words so they sound like one word: went_away.

- A: What's the suitcase for?
 B: I'm going away for a few days. My sister is getting married.
 A: Have a great trip!
 A: Ruth, we're going away for the weekend. Can you take care of the dog?
 B: Sure. No problem.
 A: How was your weekend?
 B: It was great. We went away for a few days.

Similar Expressions: gó on a tríp (to), táke a tríp (to), gó (to)

- A: What are you going to do this weekend?
 B: We're going to go on a trip
 take a trip } to Disneyland.
 go

- A: Where did they go?
 B: They went on a trip took a trip } to Disneyland.
 went

Similar Expressions: have a vacation, take a vacation, be on vacation

- He looks relaxed because had a long vacation.
- I'm so tired. I need to take a vacation.
- Jennifer is on vacation for two weeks.

Culture Note

Many Americans who work have two weeks of vacation every year. How many weeks do working people in your native country usually have for vacation?

Your Turn

With a partner, answer these questions.

1. Do you ever have vacations, or do you always work?
If you have vacations, how long are they?
2. Imagine that you have a two-week vacation. Do you want to go away or stay home? Why?
3. When you go away, do you usually:
 - stay with friends or relatives?
 - stay at a hotel or motel?
 - go camping?
 Why?

2. gó swimming—Use “go ___ing” to talk about activities that you do (not places).

Grammar note: It is not correct to say “go to ___ing.”

A: It’s such a hot day! Do you want to go swimming after class?

B: That’s a good idea. Do you want to go to the beach or to a pool?

Your Turn

Fill in the blanks with go or go to.

1. _____ the mountains

2. _____ a club

3. _____ ice skating

4. _____ a river

5. _____ shopping

6. _____ dancing

7. _____ swimming

8. _____ a store

- Grammar Notes:*
- Walk in “take a walk” is a noun.
 - Singular: take a walk
 - Plural: take walks

- It's a beautiful evening. Do you want to $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{take a walk} \\ \text{go for} \end{array} \right\}$ around the block?
- We $\left\{ \begin{array}{l} \text{took} \\ \text{went for} \end{array} \right\}$ a long walk yesterday afternoon. It was great.

Write sentences with these expressions. Remember to use took or went if you are talking about the past.

4. go for walks

4. what else = what more/what other things

A: Let's see . . . we have bread, salad, and juice. What else do we need?

B: Uh, I think we need some rice, but that's all.

A: What did you do over the weekend?

B: Well, let's see. I cleaned my house and did my laundry.

A: What else did you do?

B: Oh, yes! I almost forgot. I went to a great party.

A: I'm glad you did something that was fun.

12. They go on trip to San Francisco every year.

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

Peter from the introductory conversation is now talking to his friend Bonnie at work. It is Monday, and he is telling her about the great weekend that he had with his wife, Alice.

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. When you finish, perform the conversation with a partner.

PETER: Hi, Bonnie. How was your weekend?

BONNIE: Pretty good. I stayed home and relaxed. How about you? Did you and Alice (1) _____?

PETER: Uh-huh. We found a small town near the beach and stayed in a nice motel for three nights. It was great, and it wasn't expensive.

BONNIE: What did you do at the beach? Wasn't it cold?

PETER: Yeah, a little. We didn't (2) _____.
But we (3) _____. And we got (4) _____ fresh air.

BONNIE: That sounds great. At this time of year, it probably (5) _____.

PETER: No, it wasn't.

BONNIE: So, (6) _____ did you do?

PETER: Well, let's see . . . on Saturday night, we (7) _____ at a club, and on Sunday we (8) _____.
It was a lot of fun.

BONNIE: It sounds like you had a great weekend. Can you give me the name of the motel?
Maybe Ed and I can go there sometime.

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson.
Use the New Expression Collection list on page 49.

6. Dictation

You will hear the dictation three times. First, just listen. Second, as you listen, write the dictation on a piece of paper. Skip lines. Third, check what you wrote. Key Words: weekend, ice skating

After the dictation, proofread. Circle your mistakes. Don't erase them. Think about what you need to study.

7. Walk and Talk

1a. Imagine that it is Friday. First, complete this dialogue. Then, get up and walk around the room. Say (don't write) the dialogue with at least three different students. Your dialogues will all be different. Take turns being Speaker A or Speaker B. If you don't understand what someone says, say "Could you please repeat that?"

A: What are you going to do this weekend?

B: I'm going to _____.

A: What else are you going to do?

B: I'm going to _____. How about you?

A: I'm going to _____ and _____.

B: That sounds _____ (great/interesting). Have a good time!

A: You too. Nice talking to you. See you.

B: It was nice talking to you, too. Have a good weekend.

1b. Complete the chart about things your classmates are going to do this weekend.

Name	Fun/Enjoyable activity	Necessary activity
Julia is going to	go shopping	clean

1c. Imagine that it is Monday. Complete this conversation. Say (don't write) the dialogue with at least three different students. Your dialogues will be different. Remember to use the past tense.

A: How was your weekend?

B: It was _____. (great, pretty good, OK, terrible)

A: What did you do?

B: I _____.

A: What else did you do?

B: I _____.

A: Did you have a good time?

B: _____. (Yes, it was fun/interesting. OR: No, not really.) How about you? What did you do?

A: I _____.

B: That sounds _____. Well, it was nice talking to you. See you.

A: See you.

1d. Complete the chart about things your classmates did last weekend.

Name	Fun/Enjoyable activity	Necessary activity
Julia	went shopping	cleaned

2. Write what your classmates said to you in Part 1. Use the students' names.

First, write sentences about what three students are going to do this weekend.

- _____
- _____
- _____

Second, write sentences about what three students did last weekend.

- _____
- _____
- _____

8. Info Gap—
How was your summer?

Imagine that the summer is over and now you are back at school. You see a friend and talk about your summer.

One of you will be Speaker 1 and the other will be Speaker 2. Speaker 1 will look at page 173 and Speaker 2 will look at page 174. You will have different information to give each other. Don't look at your partner's page.

When you finish, find a new partner and tell that person about your first partner's summer.

9. Write a Dialogue

Work on your own or with a partner. Write a conversation between Bonnie from Exercise 4 and her husband Ed. Bonnie is suggesting that they go away because they work too much and are very tired. Use at least five of the expressions from the box.

Start with "Why don't we . . ." (Also, try to use some expressions from other lessons that you studied.)

go away	go on a trip	take a trip	take a vacation	take walks
What else?	plenty of	be crowded	make a reservation	lots of

10. Tic-Tac-Toe

- Your teacher will put tic-tac-toe lines on the board, with expressions in the nine spaces.
- The class should be divided into two teams, X and O. Flip a coin (choose “heads or tails”) to see which team goes first.
- To get an X or an O in a space, a team has to make a sentence with the expression in that space. The sentence should be correct in grammar and meaning. Team members can plan what they will say for up to 30 seconds. Students should take turns giving the answers.
- The first team to get three X's or O's in a straight line wins. The line can be horizontal (\leftrightarrow), vertical (\updownarrow), or diagonal (\nearrow) (\nwarrow).
- When you finish a game, if there are any expressions that are not covered by X's or O's, you can keep them for another game. You can add other expressions to the spaces already used and play again.

go away for	take a trip to	went shopping
took a walk	on vacation	plenty of
be crowded	make a reservation	lots of

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- A trip that I once took
- My first impressions of a country
- A place in my native country that I recommend for tourists
- How to pack a suitcase

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the "Hot Seat" (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the "Hot Seat." This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

Wake Up!

Theme: Describing Your Daily Routine

Warm-Up

Answer these questions with a partner or in a small group.

1. Do you have trouble getting up in the morning? Why or why not?
2. In the morning, what do you do first? What do you do second?

Number the following. Put the numbers on the lines at the left. Everyone will have different answers.

- 1 a. wake up
- b. wash your face
- c. get up
- d. brush your teeth
- e. take a shower
- f. go to school or go to work
- g. get dressed (put on clothes)
- h. eat breakfast
- i. shave (Of course, not everyone does this.)

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoon on page 57. Mike and Tom are talking. What do you think they are saying?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation between Mike and Tom to find the answers to these questions.

Why does Tom need to get up? Why is Tom having trouble getting up?

- (B) Listen again, but this time, read the conversation as you listen.

MIKE: Wake up, Tom! Don't you have to go to the airport?

TOM: Yeah, I'll get up in five minutes. I don't want to get out of bed—it's so early.

MIKE: Well, I'm going back to sleep. I hope you won't miss your plane. Have a good trip.

TOM: Thanks.

(Tom's thoughts—Oh, why did I go to bed so late last night? It's so hard to get up, and it's so cold and dark. But I need to get up now and take a shower. What time is it . . . ? 6 o'clock? Oh, no! I'm late. I don't have time for a shower. I have to get dressed and get to the airport right away.)

After You Listen

- (A) Below are details about the introductory conversation. Circle T for true, F for false, or ? if you don't know.

- | | | | |
|--|---|---|---|
| 1. Mike woke Tom up. | T | F | ? |
| 2. Tom doesn't want to take a trip. | T | F | ? |
| 3. Tom takes a shower before he goes to the airport. | T | F | ? |
| 4. Tom went to bed late last night because Mike made a going-away party for him. | T | F | ? |
| 5. Mike can go back to sleep, but Tom can't. | T | F | ? |

- (B) Say the conversation in pairs. Then have two students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask questions about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

1. wake up = open your eyes after sleeping (past = woke up)

ALL CLEAR ?

- A: What time do you wake up every day?
B: At about 7:00. How about you?

A: I like weekends because I can wake up late.
B: What time do you usually wake up?
A: About 11:00.

Pronunciation: Stress the second part of this phrasal verb: wake UP. (See page 159.)

Your Turn

Ask your partner these questions. Write the answers on the right.

Questions

1. What time did you wake up this morning?
2. Did a person wake you up?
3. Did an alarm clock wake you up?
4. What time did you fall asleep last night?
5. Do you often stay up late on weekends? (If yes, why?)
6. Do you ever sleep late (sleep in) on Sundays? (If yes, how late?)(=until what time?)

Answers

I woke up at ____.

Yes No

Yes No

I fell asleep at around ____.

Yes No

Yes No

2. get up = get out of bed after you wake up (past = got up)

A: Get up, Sandy! You'll be late for school!

B: I am up Mom.

A: I'm going to bed early tonight because I have to get up early tomorrow.

B: Why?

A: I have an appointment.

A: What time did you wake up this morning?

B: Well, I woke up at 6:00, but I got up at 7:00.

A: Why?

B: I wasn't in a hurry so I listened to the radio.

A: You look sleepy.

B: I am. I got up at 5:00 this morning.

A: Really? Why?

B: I started an exercise program.

Opposite: gó to béd (See number 6.)

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

Ask your partner these questions. Write the answers on the right.

Questions

1. What time did you get up this morning?
2. What time do you usually get up on weekdays?
3. What time do you usually get up on weekends?

Answers

- I got up at ____.
- I usually get up at ____
- I usually get up at ____

ALL CLEAR ?

3. get out of bed = leave one's bed

Note: It is not correct to say get out of ~~the~~ bed.

- It's so cold in here! I don't want to get out of bed.

A: Every night three-year-old Jamie gets out of bed and goes into his parents' bed.

B: Is that OK with his parents?

Your Turn

Ask three classmates:

When is it hard for you to get out of bed? Why?

ALL CLEAR ?

4. gó b́ack to sĺeep = go to sleep again after you wake up (past = went)

A: Dad, wake up! I had a bad dream.

B: Relax. It was just a dream. Now, go back to sleep. Everything is OK.

A: Why are you watching TV at 3 o'clock in the morning?

B: I woke up and can't go back to sleep.

A: Do you want some tea?

B: Oh, that sounds nice. Thanks.

Your Turn

Ask a partner: When you wake up in the middle of the night, is it usually hard for you to go back to sleep? If it is hard, what can you do to get sleepy?

5. Háve a góod (great) tríp! = You say this when someone is going to leave and travel somewhere.

A: Do you have your ticket?

B: Yes.

A: Do you have enough money?

B: Uh-huh.

A: Do you have your toothbrush?

B: Listen, I have to go now.

A: Bye. Have a good trip! Call me when you get there.

Similar Expression: take a tríp (See Lesson 3)

A: What are you going to do this weekend?

B: We're going to take a tríp to the mountains.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

Ask a partner: Imagine that someone just gave you $1,000. You want to use the money to take a trip. Where do you want to go?

Answer: I want to go to _____.

I want to take a trip to _____.

6. gó to béd/gó to sléep = to get into bed and try to sleep (past = went)

ALL CLEAR ?

Note: It is not correct to say go to ~~the~~ bed.

- When I take a nap in the afternoon, I can't go to béd early.

A: I'm tired. I'm going to béd (I'm going to sléep.)

B: But it's only 9 o'clock!

A: I know, but last night I went to béd very late.

Your Turn

Ask a partner these questions. Write the answers on the right.

Questions

1. What time did you go to bed last night?
2. What time do you usually go to bed on weeknights?
3. What time do you usually go to bed on weekends?

Answers

- I went to bed at ____ last night.
- I usually go to bed at ____ on weeknights.
- I usually go to bed at ____ on weekends.

ALL CLEAR ?

7. need to = necessary—You “need to” do something when it is necessary.

A: I need to go to the airport.

B: What time? I can take you.

A: Really? Thanks!

Grammar Note: Put the base form of the verb after to. Don’t add -s, -ing, or a past form:

She needs to go.

She needs to ~~goes~~.

She needs to ~~going~~.

She needed to ~~went~~.

He needs to { sleep.
be on time.
learn English.

If you don’t use to, then put a noun after the word need.

He needs { money.
a car.
time to learn English.

Your Turn

Answer these two questions.

1. What are three things that you need to do today?
I need to _____, _____,
and _____.
2. What are three things that you need when you go on a trip?
I need _____, _____,
and _____ when I go on a trip.

8. táke a shówér—Use this expression when you want to get in the shower to get clean. (past = took)

ALL CLEAR ?

Similar Expression: táke a báth

A: What do you do after you get up?

B: I wash my face, brush my teeth, and take a shower. Sometimes I take a bath.

Your Turn

Ask your partner these questions.

1. What do you like better—to take a shower or to take a bath? Why?
2. How long are you usually in a shower? in a bath?
3. Do you sing in the shower?

9. háve tíme for (something)/háve tíme to (do something) = not be busy

A: Do you have time for a cup of coffee?

B: Sure. Great idea!

A: Sorry, I don't have time to eat breakfast. I'm late.

B: Here, take some toast with you.

A: Thanks. See you.

Grammar Note: After have time for, add a noun.

After have time to, add the base form of the verb.

Have time FOR something

Do you have time for a cup of coffee?

I don't have time for breakfast.

Have time TO DO something

Do you have time to drink a cup of coffee?

I don't have time to eat breakfast.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

Are you a very busy person? On the left, write three things that you don't have time for, and on the right, write three things that you don't have time to do. Then compare yourself to your partner.

I don't have time for (noun)

I don't have time to (verb)

ALL CLEAR ?

10. gét dréssed = put on your clothes

A: Let's go!

B: Wait! I have to get dressed first. I'm still in my pajamas.

Contrast: put ón (specific clothes) (past = put)

Note: When you say "get dressed," you mean that a person puts on all of his or her clothes. When you say "put on," you mean that a person puts on specific clothes, such as socks:

She is getting dressed. (general)

She is putting on her socks. (specific clothes)

- He's only three years old, and he's learning to get dressed.
- He's only three years old, and he's learning to put on { his socks.
his shoes.

Note: When you "get dressed" or "put something on," you are using an action with your hands to put clothes on your body. After you "get dressed" or "put something on," you are wearing something. When you "wear" clothes, they are already on you. There is no action.

Opposite: gét undréssed = take óff (your clothes)

- He's only three years old, and he's learning to get undressed.
- He's only three years old, and he's learning to take off { his socks.
his shoes.

Grammar Note: Remember that pronouns go between the parts of verbs with two parts:

Yes	Yes	Yes	No
put on your shoes	put your shoes on	put them on	put on them put on your shirt	put your shirt on	put it on	put on it take off your shoes	take your shoes off	take them off	take off them take off your shirt	take your shirt off	take it off	take off it

Culture Note

In some cultures, people take their shoes off before they enter a house. Do you do this in your native country?

Your Turn A

Next to each sentence, write C if the sentence is correct. Write NC if the sentence is not correct.

- | | |
|--|--|
|  C  1. He put on his shoes. |   6. The child took off his shirt. |
|   2. He put on his jacket. |   7. The child took it off. |
|   3. He put his jacket on. |   8. The child took off it. |
|   4. He put it on. |   9. The child took his shirt off. |
|   5. He put on it. |   10. The child got dressed. |

Your Turn B: Listening Challenge

This is a dictation. Write the imperative sentences (commands) you hear. End each with an exclamation point (!).

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____

NEW EXPRESSION COLLECTION

wake (someone) up	go back to sleep	take a shower

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

Tom is now back from his trip. He went to his cousin's wedding. (His cousin got married.) Now he is talking to his roommate, Mike.

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. When you finish, perform the conversation with a partner.

MIKE: So, how was your trip?

TOM: Great. My cousin's wedding was really nice, and I saw a lot of my friends and relatives.

MIKE: Did you miss your plane?

TOM: You know, I almost did. I was really late because I didn't want to

(I) _____. Remember?

MIKE: Yeah. It was really cold and dark in here.

TOM: But I (2) _____ on the plane. When I

(3) _____,

I felt better. And when I got to my parent's house, it was great. We

(4) _____ to talk and relax.

I (5) _____ some of my old clothes and worked in the garden. Then I (6) _____ and

(7) _____ for the wedding.

MIKE: What did you wear? Do you have any nice clothes?

TOM: Sure, I do. I have a suit, you know.

MIKE: I don't believe it. You (8) _____ show me some pictures of you in a suit. I know you only in blue jeans.

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson. Use the New Expression Collection list on page 68.

6. Dictation

You will hear the dictation three times. First, just listen. Second, as you listen, write the dictation on a piece of paper. Skip lines. Third, check what you wrote.

Key Words: airport, roommate, dark, lucky

After the dictation, proofread. Circle your mistakes. Don't erase them. Think about what you need to study.

7. Walk and Talk

1. Ask five of your classmates the questions in the chart. Take very short notes in the spaces. Write the students' names on the right. After you collect the information, complete Number 2.

Grammar Reminders:

- Use simple present tense because you are talking about a habit or routine, something that you repeat (every day, every weekend). For example, "I usually get up at 7:30 on weekdays."
- Use the preposition at when you give a time (AT 7 o'clock) and use the preposition on when you give a day (ON weekdays, ON Sundays).

Questions

1. What time do you usually get up on weekdays?
2. What time do you usually get up on weekends?
3. What time do you usually go to bed on weekdays?
4. What time do you usually go to bed on weekends?
5. How many hours of sleep do you need every night?
6. How many hours of sleep do you usually get every night?
7. Do you often feel tired?
8. If you said 'yes' to question 7, then what can you do to feel better?

First Names

2. Complete these sentences about the students you talked to in Number 1. Give times or numbers in 1, 3, 5, 7, 9, 10, and 11. Give students' names in 2, 4, 6, and 8.

- I. Most of the students get up between _____ and _____ on weekdays.
2. _____ gets up the earliest, and _____ gets up the latest on weekdays.
3. Most of the students get up between _____ and _____ on weekends.
4. _____ gets up the latest on weekends.
5. Most of the students go to bed between _____ and _____ on weeknights.
6. _____ goes to bed the earliest, and _____ goes to bed the latest on weeknights.
7. Most of the students go to bed between _____ and _____ on weekends.
8. _____ goes to bed the latest on weekends.
9. Most of the students need between _____ and _____ hours of sleep every night.
10. Most of the students get about _____ hours of sleep every night.
11. _____ out of five students often feel tired.
12. Students can feel better if they _____.

As a class:

- Compare your sentences.
- Answer this question: Do most students in your class usually get enough sleep?

8. Contact Assignment

With a partner, ask three native English speakers the following questions. You can ask people in your school, at a library or store, or in your neighborhood. You don't need to walk up to strangers on the street.

Introduce yourself like this. You can practice saying this in class:

Hi. We're from _____ and _____ and we're studying English. We have a homework assignment to ask eight short questions about what time people usually get up and go to bed. Do you have a minute to answer our questions?

Advice: Look directly at the people you are talking to and take short notes. Don't just look at your book, and don't let the people read the questions.

1. What time do you usually get up on weekdays?
2. What time do you usually get up on weekends?
3. What time do you usually go to bed on weekdays?
4. What time do you usually go to bed on weekends?
5. How many hours of sleep do you need every night?
6. How many hours of sleep do you usually get every night?
7. Do you often feel tired?
8. (If 'yes' is the answer to number 7) What can you do to feel better?

After you get the information from the three people, answer these questions.

1. Do the people you talked to usually get enough sleep? ____ Yes ____ No
2. If they don't get enough sleep, what do they need to do?
3. When you said you were studying English and you asked people to talk to you, what did they say?
4. Did the native English speakers understand your questions?
____ always ____ usually ____ sometimes ____ rarely
5. How much did you understand when the native speakers answered your questions? ____ percent
6. How did you feel when you talked to the three native speakers?
7. If you do this kind of activity again, would you do anything differently? What?

9. Write a Dialogue

Work on your own or with a partner. Write a conversation between the mother and her son, Sam. Sam is sleeping late and his mother wants him to get up. Use at least five of the expressions from the box.

Start with "It's 11:30 Sam!" (Also, try to use some expressions from other lessons that you studied.)

get up fall asleep get out of bed need (to) go back to sleep get dressed stay up late have time to/for sleep late wake up

10. Unscramble and Find the Secret Message

Unscramble the words and write them in the puzzle. All of the verbs are in the past tense. Then find the secret message at the bottom of the page.

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- A typical weekday
- A typical Saturday or Sunday

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the “Hot Seat” (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the “Hot Seat.” This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoon on page 81. A brother and sister are talking at a restaurant. What do you think they are saying?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation between the brother and sister to find the answers to these questions.

What are they celebrating?

Who's going to pay for lunch?

- (B) Listen again, but this time, read the conversation as you listen.

SISTER: Oh, it's so nice to eat out and have time together. What a great birthday present!

BROTHER: I'm glad you like it. I'm always happy to treat you to lunch. And I was thinking, you know, we never really have time to just sit and talk.

SISTER: I know. And now we have two hours! And this is a really nice place.

BROTHER: Yeah, I come here once in a while.

SISTER: So, what are you going to have?

BROTHER: Um. . . I'm not sure yet. But you order whatever you want. It's your birthday.

SISTER: Whatever I want? OK. But please don't sing Happy Birthday when we have dessert. If you do, I'll go under the table.

BROTHER: You'll never change. Always so shy.

SISTER: Well, that's me. Anyway, I think I'll have the chicken Caesar salad. What are you going to have?

BROTHER: The salad sounds good. But I'm going to have soup too because I'm really hungry.

WAITRESS: Hi, are you ready to order?

BROTHER: Yes, we are.

SISTER: I would like the chicken Caesar salad.

WAITRESS: Anything to drink?

SISTER: Just water for now.

WAITRESS: And how about you?

BROTHER: I'll have the same, but I'd also like the vegetable soup.

WAITRESS: Will that be all?

BROTHER: Uh-huh. That's all for now.

WAITRESS: OK. I'll be right back with your soup.

BROTHER: Thanks.

After You Listen

(A) Below are details about the introductory conversation. Circle the letter of the correct answer, a or b.

1. a. They don't have time to relax and talk very often.
b. The brother and sister often have time to relax and talk.
2. a. They are each going to pay for half the lunch.
b. The brother is going to pay.
3. a. For the brother, this is the first time in this restaurant.
b. For the brother, this isn't the first time in this restaurant.
4. a. The brother is very shy.
b. The sister is very shy.
5. a. The sister doesn't want soup.
b. They are both going to have soup and salad.

(B) Say the conversation in groups of three. Then have three students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask questions about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

ALL CLEAR ?

1. eat out = go out to eat = eat in a restaurant (past = ate/went)

A: Let's eat out tonight. I don't want to cook.

B: We ate out last night. I'll make you dinner. What do you want?

A: Let's do something special for your birthday. Let's go out to eat.

B: Really? That's a great idea! Thank you!

Similar Expression: eat outside = eat in the fresh air, under the sky

A: Can we eat outside?

B: I don't know. I think it's going to rain.

Your Turn

1. What do you want to do tonight—cook, eat out, order a pizza, or get take-out Chinese food?
2. Do you plan to go out to eat next month to celebrate a special occasion (a birthday, an anniversary)? If yes, where? For what occasion?
3. Do you have a balcony, patio or yard where you can eat outside in nice weather (where you live now and/or in your native country)?

2. tréat (someone) to (something) = pay for someone (for example, for a meal or for a movie)

A: It's your birthday. I want to treat you to the movie.

B: Thank you, but it's too expensive. I can pay for my own ticket.

A: No, I'm happy to do it. It's your birthday present.

B: Wow! Really? Thank you!

Similar Expression: It's my tréat!

A: Put away your wallet. It's my treat!

B: No. Let's split the bill (you pay half and I pay half).

A: No. You just graduated and I want to treat you.

B: That's really nice. Thank you. But please let me leave the tip.

ALL CLEAR ?

Culture Note

When someone offers to treat you, it is common to first say

'No,' and then to accept.

What is the custom in your native country?

Your Turn

Work with a partner. Choose a special occasion from the list. Then use one of the dialogues above as a model for your conversation.

Special Occasions:

a birthday

a graduation

a celebration because one person just came back after a long time a going-away lunch for one person who is going to be away for a long time

Other: _____

3. once in a while = sometimes

Note: Once in a while can be an answer to the question, "How often. . . ?"

A: How often do you come to this restaurant?

B: Oh, once in a while. When I want to celebrate something special.

A: Do you speak English when you're not in class?

B: Do I speak English when I'm not in class? Hmm. That's a very interesting question. Well, I have to say I speak English only once in a while because we don't speak English at home. But I watch TV a lot.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

Circle your answers. Then compare yourself to your partner.

1. How often do you read the newspaper?	Every day	Once in a while	Never
2. How often do you clean your room?	Every day	Once in a while	Never
3. Do you study a lot?	Every day	Once in a while	Never
4. Do you try to use new expressions when you speak English?	Every day	Once in a while	Never
5. When you listen to people speak English, do you hear them using expressions you studied?	Every day	Once in a while	Never
6. How often do you _____?	Every day	Once in a while	Never

ALL CLEAR ?

4. whatever you want = you can have or do anything that you want

A: The party's at 8 o'clock.

B: Can I wear jeans?

A: Sure. You can wear whatever you want.

Similar Expressions: wherever you want = in any place that you want whenever you want = at any time that you want

A: Where do you want to eat?

B: Wherever you want.

A: Really? How about that new Chinese restaurant near your house?

B: Great idea! What time do you want to go?

A: Whenever you want.

Your Turn: Listening Challenge

Listen to Speaker A. Choose the best response for Speaker B: a, b, or c.

1. (a) Whatever you want. (b) Wherever you want. (c) Whenever you want.
2. (a) Whatever you want. (b) Wherever you want. (c) Whenever you want.
3. (a) Whatever you want. (b) Wherever you want. (c) Whenever you want.

A: Hi. Are you ready to order? (Can I take your order?)

B: Uh, I think we need a few more minutes to look at the menu.

A: No problem. I'll come back in a few minutes.

A: Excuse me. We're ready to order.

B: I'll be right there.

Culture Note

In the United States, you can call a waiter or waitress by making eye contact and saying, "We're ready to order." To catch the waiter or waitress' eye, you can raise your hand just a little bit.

Your Turn

How do you get the waiter's or waitress' attention in a restaurant in your native country?

___ (a) wave your hand

___ (d) make a sound

___ (b) catch his or her eye

___ (e) Other: _____

___ (c) snap your fingers

8. would like = "I would like. . ." is a polite way to say "I want . . ."

3. Error Correction

Find the errors and make corrections. Every item has one mistake.

1. We eat out once a while.
2. We didn't ate out last night.
3. I have thirsty.
4. I can't believe it. They treat me to dinner last week.
5. They go out eat every Wednesday. It's expensive!
6. A: Are you ready to order?
B: Yes, I have the chicken.
7. A: Will that be all?
B: Yes, it's all.

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

The brother and sister from the introductory dialogue are eating out again. It is about six months later, and the sister is treating her brother to lunch for his birthday.

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. When you finish, perform the conversation with two classmates.

BROTHER: Now I can thank you. You know I love to (1) _____.
And this is a great birthday present.

SISTER: Well, I'm just glad to (2) _____ you and have time to sit and talk with you. Life these days is so busy . . .

WAITER: Hi! (3) _____?

SISTER: I'm sorry. We need a few more minutes.

WAITER: No problem. I'll come back.

BROTHER: So, what are you going to have?

SISTER: I don't know, but I want you to order (4) _____.

BROTHER: I have to tell you, I (5) _____ . . .

SISTER: That's OK. It's your birthday and you can have anything. Hmm . . .
I think (6) _____ the fish special. It sounds really good.

BROTHER: You know, I think (7) _____ the same thing.

SISTER: Where's the waiter? . . . Oh, there he is . . . Excuse me.
(8) _____.

WAITER: (9) _____?

SISTER: (10) _____ the fish special.

WAITER: With soup or salad?

SISTER: Salad. With oil and vinegar on the side, please.

WAITER: And how about you?

When you get salad dressing "on the side," you put the dressing on the salad.

BROTHER: I'll have the same.

WAITER: OK. That's two fish specials and two salads with oil and vinegar on the side. (11) _____?

SISTER: Yes, that's all (12) _____. Thanks.

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson. Use the New Expression Collection list on page 91.

6. Dictation

You will hear the dictation three times. First, just listen. Second, as you listen, write the dictation on a piece of paper. Skip lines. Third, check what you wrote. Key Words: kind, turkey, sandwich

After the dictation, proofread. Circle your mistakes. Don't erase them. Think about what you need to study.

WAITRESS: _____

CUSTOMER: _____

WAITRESS: _____

CUSTOMER: _____

WAITRESS: _____

CUSTOMER: _____

WAITRESS: _____

CUSTOMER: _____

7. Walk and Talk—Find Someone Who . . .

A. Walk around the room and ask about five of your classmates the following questions: What is your favorite kind of appetizer? Soup? Salad? Main course? Dessert? Beverage?

Write short answers in the chart on page 95. You don't need to write students' names.

Favorite Kinds of
Appetizers	Soups and Salads	Main Courses	Desserts	Beverages

Pronunciation:

- favorite = "fáy-vrit"
- beverage = "bév-ridge"

- B. After you get the information, get into a group of three or four students. Imagine that you are all going to open a new international restaurant together. Give your restaurant a name, and use the information in the chart above to make a menu. Add to the menu if you wish. Decide on the prices you will charge.

<hr/> (name of restaurant)
Appetizers	$	Soups	$
•		•
•		•
•		•
Salads	$	Main Courses	$
•		• Today's Special: ____
•		•
•		•
Desserts	$	Beverages	$
•		•

- C. Alone or with a partner, write a paragraph on a piece of paper about the restaurant that your group will open. Give the name of the restaurant and talk about some of the kinds of food that you will serve. Also, give the price range of the main courses (for example, main courses will cost from $3 to $10). Use the future tense.

We plan to open an international restaurant. We will name the restaurant

8. Role Play

Choose three or four students to be waiters and waitresses. They will each have four copies of the menus they made in Exercise 7B on page 95.

Do the following:

- On the board, write: the name of the restaurant expressions listed on page 91
- Choose three or four groups of students to each sit at a group of desks. These will be the tables at the restaurant. (If there are more students in the class, they can join the tables or listen and watch.)

- The waiters and waitresses will each have a table to serve. They will give menus to the customers. The customers will order lunch or dinner.
- Try to use as many of the new expressions as possible. If you can, bring in tablecloths, cups, plates, etc.

Possible first lines:

How are you today? Here are the menus. I'll be back in a few minutes to take your order.

Possible way to end:

Excuse me. Can we have the check, please?

Additional Role Play

Three of you are eating at a restaurant, but you are all having a terrible time. Your waiter or waitress brings the wrong food. One order is not cooked enough. One of you spills water all over the table. And one of you drops your fork on the floor. There are even more problems . . .

9. Write a Dialogue

Write a restaurant conversation on your own or with a partner. Give the people in the cartoon names, and use at least five of the expressions below.

Start with "The restaurant is so crowded!"
(Also, try to use some expressions from other lessons that you studied.)

eat out	be thirsty
I'll have	for now
be hungry	whatever you want
Will that be all?	Are you ready to order?
It's my treat!	once in a while
I'd like	eat outside

10. Word Search

Complete the underlined expressions. Then find the complete expressions in the puzzle. The words can be spelled backwards. They can also be vertical (↓), horizontal (↔), or diagonal (↗) (↖).

- We can eat you want—near home or in the city.
- They're buying some bottles of water because they thirsty.
- We had a picnic yesterday. We outside.
- Our refrigerator is empty. Let's go to eat.
- A: Would you like anything else?
B: No thanks. That's all for.
- A: OK. Eggs and toast. Is that it?
B: Yes, it.
- Excuse me. We're ready.
- Hmm. I think I'll a salad.
- Hmm. like the chocolate cake. We're going to share it.

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- A special birthday celebration in my family
- An experience that I had in a restaurant
- My experience as a waiter/waitress

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the “Hot Seat” (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the “Hot Seat.” This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

My Leg Is Killing Me!

Theme: Talking About Your Health

Warm-Up

Answer these questions with a partner or small group.

1. Did you ever break a bone? If yes, what happened? Who helped you?
2. What sound do people make in your native language when they get hurt?

English:

Ow! or Ouch!

Your native language:

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoon above. What happened to Mike? What do you think Judy is saying to him? What do you think they will do?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation between Mike and Judy to find the answers to these questions.

Why did Mike fall down?

What is Judy going to do?

- (B) Listen again, but this time, read the conversation as you listen.

MIKE: Ow. My leg is killing me.

JUDY: What happened?

MIKE: I was coming down the stairs too fast and I fell down.

JUDY: Do you think your leg is broken?

MIKE: I don't know, but it hurts a lot.

JUDY: Maybe you need to go to the emergency room.

MIKE: No, let's wait a few minutes and see if it gets better.

JUDY: OK. But can I get you anything?

MIKE: Hmm . . . Maybe some ice.

JUDY: OK. I'll be right back . . . OK, here. Can you move your leg?

MIKE: I think so. But look — it's getting swollen.

JUDY: Listen Mike. I'm calling an ambulance right away. Stay put and don't move.

Culture Note

In the United States, the phone number to call in an emergency is 911. What is the emergency number in your native country?

After You Listen

- (A) Answer these questions with short yes or no answers. Use is, are, does, did and can (and their negative forms if necessary). Check your answers with a partner.

1. Did Mike go down the stairs too fast? _____
2. Does his right leg hurt? _____
3. Does his left leg hurt? _____

4. Does Mike want to go to the emergency room immediately? _____
5. Can Mike move his right leg? _____
6. Is Judy going to call an ambulance? _____
7. Are they worried? _____

- (B) Say the conversation in pairs. Then have two students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask questions about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

1. be killing someone—You say this when a part of your body hurts very, very much. It does not mean that anyone is being killed.

A: My head is killing me.

B: Why don't you take some aspirin?

A: I don't have any. Do you?

B: Uh-huh. Here. Take two. I'll get you some water.

A: Thanks a lot.

A: Where's Rick?

B: His tooth is killing him, so he went to the dentist.

ALL CLEAR ?

Take

- medicine
- a pill
- aspirin

Your Turn

Complain to your partner that something really hurts. Your partner will try to help you by giving you ideas about how you can get better:

YOU: Oh, my _____ is killing me.

YOUR PARTNER: Why don't you _____?

ALL CLEAR ?

Uh-oh! = Oh, no!
Something is wrong.

2. What happened?—Ask this question when you want to know what occurred.

A: What happened?

B: I can't find my wallet.

A: Uh-oh. Let me help you look for it.

A: I was absent this morning. Can you tell me what happened in class?

B: Sure. We worked in groups and then we had a quiz.

Your Turn

Tell another student that you were absent for the last class. Ask him or her to tell you what happened in class that day. He or she may need to look at the textbook and at notes to remember. Use the second dialogue above as a model.

Contrast: What's happening? = What's going on? (right now)

A: Hi Roberto. What's happening?

B: Nothing special (OR: Not much). Same old routine.

A: Hi Roberta. What's happening?

B: Oh, I've been really busy at work. But everything's OK.

ALL CLEAR ?

3. fall down—accidentally go from standing to the floor or ground (past = fell)

Notes:

- (1) Usually we don't put words after "fall down." We just say "I fell down."
But we can say where we fell down: "I fell down the stairs." We can also say "I fell down and broke my leg."
- (2) Be careful with the past tense. The past of fall is fell. The past of feel is felt.

- There's ice on the ground, and you need to be careful or you'll fall down.

A: Why is he crying?

B: He fell down and hurt his knee.

Similar Expressions: fall off (something)/fall out (of something)

Note: If something is ON something like a table, it can FALL OFF. If something is IN something like a pocket, it can FALL OUT (OF something).

- The book was on the table. When the earthquake hit, the book fell off (the table).
- His keys were in his pocket. When he was jogging, his keys fell out (of his pocket).

on ≠ off in ≠ out (of)

A: What happened during the earthquake?

B: I stayed under a table and things fell off bookshelves and they fell out of kitchen cabinets. I was scared.

Your Turn

Fill in the blanks with fell off, fell out of, or fell down. All of these sentences are in the past tense.

- | | |
|---------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| | During the earthquake, |
| 1. The plate was ON the table. | it fell OFF the table. |
| 2. The picture was ON the wall. | it _____ the wall. |
| 3. The book was ON the shelf. | it _____ the shelf. |
| 4. Your example: | _____ |

- | | |
|---------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| | When she was running, |
| 5. Her keys were IN her pocket. | her keys _____ her pocket. |
| 6. A book was IN her backpack. | a book _____ her backpack. |
| 7. Her wallet was IN her purse. | her wallet _____ her purse. |
| 8. Your example: | _____ |
9. The ice skater _____ three times last night. Ouch!
10. The baby _____ a lot when he was learning to walk.
11. During the earthquake, many people _____.
12. Your example: _____

ALL CLEAR ?

4. will be right back = will return immediately

A: Oh, I forgot my wallet. I'll be right back.

B: I'll wait here.

A: Where's Judy?

B: She'll be right back. She went to get some ice.

Your Turn

Complete these dialogues.

A: Where's _____?

B: He'll be right back. He _____.

A: Where are _____?

B: They _____. They'll be right back.

5. I think so./I don't think so.—These expressions can be answers to yes-no questions that ask for information. Say these expressions when you are not 100 percent sure (certain).

A: Is she sleeping?

B: I think so. I'll go check . . . Yes, she's asleep. (OR: No, she's awake.)

A: Do we have a test today?

B: I think so . . . Let me see . . . Uh-huh. That's right. The teacher said Tuesday.

A: Is his leg broken?

B: I don't think so, but he needs to have an X-ray so we can be sure.

A: Are they coming to the party tonight?

B: I don't think so. They said they were probably going to stay home.

Note: You can say "Yes, I think so" or "No, I don't think so" to give your opinion when someone asks, "Do you think . . . ?"

A: Do you think we should leave early?

B: Yeah, I think so. There's going to be a lot of traffic.

A: Do you think English is easy?

B: No, I don't think so.

ALL CLEAR ?

Pronunciation: To make the voiceless "th" sound, put your tongue between your front teeth and blow air. Put your hand in front of your mouth to feel the air. Don't be afraid to have your tongue out a little bit. If your tongue is in, you will make the /t/ or /s/ sound, not the "th."

Your Turn

Ask your partner the following questions about Mike and Judy from the introductory conversation. Your partner will answer with "I think so" or "I don't think so."

Questions

Answers

1. Do you think Judy is Mike's mother?
2. Do you think Mike has a broken leg?
3. Did Mike and Judy go to the hospital?
4. Did Mike go to work the next day?
5. Do you think Mike will be more careful on the stairs next time?

ALL CLEAR ?

6. (it) hurts—You can say something hurts when you feel pain in parts of your body. (past = hurt)

A: How's your leg?

B: It hurts a lot, so I can't walk.

A: You look better today. How's your leg?

B: Thanks. It hurt a lot yesterday, but today I'm feeling better.

Pronunciation:

- Ache is pronounced "ake" as in "make."
- Stress the first word in noun compounds. (The stressed parts of the words are in capital letters.)

My head	}	hurts.	I have a HEADache.
My stomach			I have a STOMACHache.
My tooth			I have a TOOTHache.
My back			I have a BACKache.
My ear			I have an EARache.

Your Turn: Listening Challenge

Listen to the man complain. He has a lot of problems. Tell him what to do to feel better.

Your Advice:

1. You should _____.
2. You should _____.
3. You should _____.
4. You should _____.
5. You should _____.

7. gét/be swóllen—When a part of the body gets bigger because you get hurt or because you break a bone, it gets “swollen.”

ALL CLEAR ?

A: How's your leg, Mike?

B: It's getting swollen. I think I need some ice.

A: How's your leg now, Mike?

B: It hurts and it's swollen. I think I need to see a doctor.

A: How's your leg now, Mike?

B: It's much better. It was swollen yesterday, but today it's better.

Note: When you have the flu, it is common to have swollen glands:

A: What's wrong? You look sick.

B: I am. I have swollen glands and a sore throat.

Your Turn

These are problems when you have a cold or have the flu:

When you have a cold, you:

sneeze

cough (gh is pronounced like an f)

When you have the flu, you can:

have a fever

cough have a sore throat

have swollen glands

have an upset stomach

Talk about the last time you had a cold or the flu. How did you feel? What medicine did you take?

ALL CLEAR ?

8. right away = immediately

A: Mom, can you come home? I feel sick.

B: What's wrong?

A: I have a sore throat, and I think I have a fever.

B: I'll be there right away.

A: Is dinner ready? I'm hungry.

B: It'll be ready right away. Why don't you set the table?

Your Turn

Complete the three conversations.

- (a) Mother: _____
Child: I'll be there right away.
- (b) Child: _____
Mother: I'll be there right away.
- (c) Person: _____
Police: We'll be there right away.

9. stáy put = stay where you are; don't go anywhere

ALL CLEAR ?

- A: I need to go to work.
- B: No, you don't. You have the flu. Just stáy put and don't go anywhere.
Take care of yourself.
- We moved two times in five years. I don't want to move anymore. I want to stáy put.

Your Turn

Complete this dialogue. There is a big storm outside. What does Speaker B say to Speaker A?

A: Let's go to the movies.

B: _____

NEW EXPRESSION COLLECTION

killing me	fall off	it hurts
What happened?	fall out of	be/get swollen

3. Error Correction

Find the errors and make corrections. Every item has one mistake.

1. I lost my dictionary. I think it fell out my backpack.
2. Be careful. Your glass is going to fall down the table.
3. The shelf in my closet is completely full. When I opened the door, everything on the shelf felt down.
4. Stay put. I will right back.
5. His knee is get swollen. He needs some ice.
6. A: Why is she walking like that?
B: She hurts her back yesterday.

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

The following is a conversation between Mike, Judy and a doctor. They are at a hospital emergency room. As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. When you finish, perform the conversation with two classmates.

DR. GREEN: Hi, I'm Dr. Green. What can I do for you today?

MIKE: My leg (1) _____. I think I broke it.

DR. GREEN: (2) _____?

MIKE: I (3) _____ the stairs. I was reading something and I wasn't paying attention . . .

DR. GREEN: Hmm. That's how these things happen. Here, let me take a look . . . Well, your leg (4) _____.

MIKE: And I put ice on it.

DR. GREEN: You need to get an X-ray (5) _____. Wait here a moment and (6) _____.

(a few minutes later)

DR. GREEN: Excuse me, what's your name?

JUDY: Judy.

DR. GREEN: OK, Judy, take Mike down the hall to room 212 for his X- ray. Then go back to the waiting room and I'll call you.

JUDY: Thanks, Dr. Green. Do you think his leg's broken?

DR. GREEN: (7) _____, but I want to be sure.

JUDY: OK. Thanks, doctor. Let's go, Mike.

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson. Use the New Expression Collection list on page 110.

8. Role Play

Imagine that your classroom is a doctor's office. Choose students for the following roles:

- doctor
- medical assistant
- receptionist
- four adult patients
- one mother or father with a child

The five patients all have different problems:

- Mike has a broken leg (Judy may be with him.)
- someone has the flu (with fever, coughing, sneezing, sore throat, swollen glands)
- someone has a cold (with sneezing and coughing)
- someone has a stomachache
- the child has an earache (his or her parent is very worried)

Each patient comes in one at a time and goes to the receptionist. The receptionist gets the person's name and asks the patient to sit down or "take a seat." Then the receptionist gives the list of names to the medical assistant.

After all of the patients are sitting in the waiting room, the medical assistant comes out and asks for the first patient. Each patient goes in to see the doctor and medical assistant and tells them what the problem is. When they finish, they leave and the next patient goes in. The doctor and medical assistant ask a lot of questions and help the patients.

Here are some expressions that you can try to use. They can be written on the board.

___ is killing me	have a(n) ___ache	I don't think so have swollen glands	have a fever	have a cold
get/be swollen	I fell down	have the flu right away	I think so	have a sore throat

Possible starting lines:

RECEPTIONIST: Hi. Can I help you?

PATIENT: Yes, I have an appointment with Dr. _____.

RECEPTIONIST: What's your name?

PATIENT: _____

RECEPTIONIST: OK. Please have a seat.

9. Write a Dialogue

Work on your own or with a partner. Write a conversation between a doctor and one of the patients from Exercise 8. Give the patient a name, and use at least five of the expressions below.

Start with the doctor saying, "So, how are you today?" (Also, try to use some expressions from other lessons that you studied.)

is killing me	What happened?	fall down	have a(n) ___ache
it hurts	will be right back	I think so	I don't think so stay put	right away	have a cold	have the flu fall out of

10. Tic-Tac-Toe

In tic-tac-toe, to get an X or an O in a space, you need to make a sentence that is correct in grammar and meaning. Here is a game with expressions from Lesson 6. (See page 55 for more detailed directions.)

fall down	fall off	fall out of right away	stay put	___ hurts is swollen	will be right back	___ is killing me because

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- A medical experience someone had
- What people in my native country do when they have the cold or flu
- What food is necessary for good nutrition
- How exercise helps us have good health

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the “Hot Seat” (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the “Hot Seat.” This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

Collocation Match-Up

Collocations are special combinations of words. Collocations can be idioms or other phrases and expressions. Find collocations from Lessons 5 and 6 by matching the words from Column A with the words in Column B. Sometimes more than one answer is possible. (You will probably be able to make additional expressions that are not from Lessons 5 and 6. Put these in the box.)

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoons on page 119. What do you think the salesperson is saying in the first cartoon? What do you think the woman is saying in the second cartoon?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation in the store to find the answers to these questions.

What do Lynn and Jim ask the salesperson? Does Jim buy a pair of jeans?

- (B) Listen again, but this time, read the conversation as you listen.

SALESPERSON: Can I help you?

LYNN: Thanks, we're just looking.

SALESPERSON: Well, let me know if there's anything I can do for you.

JIM: What do you think of these jeans?

LYNN: They're really nice. How much are they?

JIM: Hmm . . . there's no price tag. Where's the salesperson? I'm going to ask her . . . Oh, there she is. Excuse me, how much are these jeans?

SALESPERSON: I'll be with you in a minute . . . OK. Let's see. They were $29, but I think today they're 30 percent off. Yes, that's right. They're about $20. That's a good price for these jeans.

JIM: Can I try them on?

SALESPERSON: Sure. The fitting rooms are right over there. Just go on in.

JIM: Thanks a lot.

JIM: Pssst. Lynn, how do they look?

LYNN: Oh, Jim! They're too big. I'll get you a smaller size . . . Wait a minute . . . Here, try these.

JIM: I think these are better. How do they look?

LYNN: They're perfect.

SALESPERSON: Oh, they look very nice on you.

JIM: Great. I'll take them.

After You Listen

- (A) Below are details about the introductory conversation. Circle T for true, F for false, or ? if you don't know.

- | | | | |
|--|---|---|---|
| 1. Jim and Lynn are married. | T | F | ? |
| 2. The salesperson is helpful. | T | F | ? |
| 3. They found jeans that are the right size for Jim. | T | F | ? |
| 4. The jeans aren't on sale today. | T | F | ? |
| 5. Next, they're going to look for jeans for Lynn. | T | F | ? |

- (B) Say the conversation in groups of three. Then have three students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

1. I'm just looking./We're just looking.—You can say this to a salesperson if you don't want help when you are shopping.

A: Hi. Can I help you?

B: Thanks. I'm just looking. (We're just looking.)

A: Fine. Let me know if you need any help.

B: I will.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

Say the dialogue above with a partner.

ALL CLEAR ?

Pronunciation: In "I'll let you know," the last sound in "I'll" is l and the first sound in let is also 'l'. Don't say the 'l' two times. Pronounce I'll let as one word.

2. lét (me, you, him, her, us, them) knów = tell (me) later

Grammar Note: This expression is usually in two forms:

- imperative (command): (Please) let me know!
- future tense: I'll let you know (later).

A: Did she have a girl or a boy?

B: I don't know. I'm going to call them right now.

A: Please let me know as soon as you can.

B: OK. I'll call you right away.

A: This homework is really hard.

B: Let me know if you need my help.

A: Do you want to go shopping tomorrow?

B: I'm not sure yet. I'll let you know tonight.

A: They need to know where the party is.

B: I'll let them know.

Your Turn

Finish the sentences on the right. Use "let ... know."

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. I need to know what time the movie starts. | I'll let you know later. |
| 2. They want to know if they passed the test. | The teacher will _____. |
| 3. When is the party? | I'll _____. |
| 4. Can you come on Friday night? | I'm not sure. I'll _____. |
| 5. I'm sorry. I don't know when I can visit you. | No problem. Just _____ when you have time. |

ALL CLEAR ?

3. Whát do you think of . . . ? = Whát is your opínion of . . . ?

A: What do you think of classical music?

B: I like it a lot. But I like rock music better.

A: What do you think of this watch?

B: It's nice, but it's too expensive.

A: What do you think of American food?

B: Hmm. That's a difficult question.

Your Turn

Ask your partner for his or her opinion.

Questions

What do you think of American food?
 English?
 classical music?
 rock music?

Answers (use adjectives)

I think it's _____.

4. Hów múch are thése (jéans)?/Hów múch is thís (shírt)? = How much money does this cost?

Grammar Note: Say "How much are these?" if you are asking about a plural noun. Use "How much is this?" if you are asking about a singular noun.

Nouns that are always plural: clothes shorts jeans pajamas pants glasses

A: Excuse me. How much are these sunglasses?

B: I'm not sure. I'll check.

A: How much is this jacket?

B: Let's see . . . It's $60.

Contrast: How much are they? How much is it?—Use they and it after someone makes a statement about specific items. They and it are pronouns.

A: These shoes are nice. A: That's a nice watch.

B: How much are they? B: How much is it?

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

1. On the left is a list of things in a department store. On the right, write questions to ask to get the price. Use this or these.

Things to buy

1. table
2. earrings
3. boots
4. sweater

Questions to ask a salesperson

How much _____?

2. Complete these dialogues. Use it or they.

A: Wow! I love this ring.

B: How much _____?

A: _____

B: _____

ALL CLEAR ?

5. try (something) on = put on clothes or shoes to see if they fit (if they are the right size) and to see if they look nice

A: I really like this shirt.

B: Why don't you try it on?

(Use it for the singular word, shirt.)

A: I really like these jeans.

B: Why don't you try them on?

(Use them for the plural word, jeans.)

You can just use this or these when you and the person you are talking to both see what you are talking about.

A: Excuse me. Where can I try this on?

(this—singular)

B: The fitting room is right over there.

A: Excuse me. Where can I try these on?

(these—plural)

B: The fitting room is right over there.

Your Turn: Listening Challenge

Listen to the sentences. Add to what each person is saying. Fill in the blanks with it or them.

- Where can I try _____ on?
- I'm going to try _____ on.
- I'm sorry I didn't try _____ on before I bought it!
- Can I try _____ on?
- I tried _____ on.

6. (be) (gó) over *thére—This is a place that is not near you. It is not here. It is common to say right over *thére or gó over *thére.

Note: Use come with “here” and go with “there.”

ALL CLEAR ?

- A: Excuse me. Where's the teacher?
B: She's right over *there.
A: Oh, I see her. Thanks.
A: Where's my book?
B: Maybe it's at Lynn's house. Remember—you studied with her yesterday.
A: Oh, that's right! I need to go over *there right now and get it because I need to do my homework.

Similar Expression: (be) (cóme) over *hére

- A: Where are you?
B: I'm over *here. Under the car.
A: Dad, I fell and my leg hurts.
B: Come over *here and let me look at it.

Your Turn

On the right, write over there or over here.

1. He's with me. He's _____.
2. He's across the street. He's _____.

ALL CLEAR ?

7. gó on ín—This is a friendly way to tell someone to go into something that is "over there."

A: Is the restaurant open?

B: Uh-huh. Go on in.

A: Don't wait for me. I'll park the car. You go on in.

B: OK. We'll see you inside.

Similar Expression: Cóme on ín = friendly way to say "Come in."

Note: You say "Come on in" when you want someone to come into a place where you are. You say "Go on in" when you want someone to go into a place, but you are not there.

A: Hi, you guys! Come on in. It's great to see you!

B: Thanks. It's great to be here.

Your Turn

On the right, write come on in or go on in.

1. I'll be right there. Don't wait for me. _____.
2. Welcome! _____

ALL CLEAR ?

8. Hów do they lóok?/Hów does it lóok?/They lóok . . . /It lóoks . . .
(+ adjective)—You can ask people these questions when you try clothes on. You ask these questions if you want their opinion. They will tell you if the clothes "look good on you."

A: What do you think of these shoes? How do they look?

B: They look really nice. Are they comfortable?

A: What do you think of this jacket? How does it look?

B: I think it's too long.

Your Turn

Get a picture from a magazine or newspaper. Write down at least three things the person or people are wearing. Then write a question and answer for each item.

What they are wearing	Questions	Answers (use adjectives)
Example: a necklace	How does it look?	It looks beautiful.
earrings	How do they look?	They look beautiful.

9. I'll (We'll) take —You can say this to a salesperson in a store when you are ready to buy something.

A: Hi. Do you want to take this sweater?

B: Yes. I'll take it.

A: Hi. We're ready. We'll take this chair.

B: OK. I'll be right with you.

A: Hi. I'll take these jeans.

B: Will that be all? (Do you want anything else?)

A: Yes, that's all.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

Work with a partner. Put some items (books, pens, wallets, purses, earrings, jackets, etc.) on a desk. One student can be the salesperson and the other student can be the customer. Think about singular and plural, and follow this sample dialogue.

3. Error Correction

Find the errors and make corrections. Every item has one mistake.

- (Talking to someone at school) It's 3:30. I need to come home right away.
- (Talking at home) I come to school at 9:00 every morning.
- (Talking in the United States) When I come back to my native country, I will see my family.
- These shoes are really comfortable. I'll take it.
- I just got new glasses. What do you think them?
- I like your glasses. Can I try on them?
- I didn't try the jeans, and now I have to return them.
- How these glasses look on me?
- How does this shirt looks on me?
- Thanks. We just looking.
- How much this is?
- How much is these?

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

The following is a conversation between Lynn, Jim, and a salesperson. Lynn and Jim finished shopping for jeans, and now they are shopping for a wedding gown for Lynn. (A wedding gown is a special dress for a woman who is getting married.)

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. When you finish, perform the conversation with two classmates.

SALESPERSON: Hello. How are you two today?

LYNN: Fine, thanks.

SALESPERSON: Can I help you find a wedding gown?

LYNN: Thanks, but (1) _____ right now.

SALESPERSON: No problem. (2) _____ if I can help.

JIM: Thanks. Lynn. . . look at this one. (3) _____ this?

LYNN: It's beautiful. (4) _____?

JIM: It's too expensive.

LYNN: Come on . . . Tell me how much . . .

JIM: Two hundred.

LYNN: (to the salesperson) Excuse me. Can I (5) _____?

SALESPERSON: Sure. The fitting rooms are right (6) _____.
Just (7) _____.

LYNN: Thanks . . . Jim . . . I'm ready . . . (8) _____?

JIM: Wow! You look fantastic!

SALESPERSON: Yes, it looks beautiful on you.

LYNN: (9) _____. But Jim, please don't wear your new jeans to our wedding!

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson.
Use the New Expression Collection list on page 128.

6. Dictation

You will hear the dictation three times. First, just listen. Second, as you listen, write the dictation on a piece of paper. Skip lines. Third, check what you wrote.

Key Words: Lynn, Jim, $200, laughs, salesperson, wedding gown

After the dictation, proofread. Circle your mistakes. Don't erase them.
Think about what you need to study.

7. Walk and Talk

1. Set up a department store in your classroom. Bring in things to sell. Set up the following departments.

Departments

- men's department
- women's department
- shoes
- jewelry
- wallets, purses
- other: _____

What Can You Bring to Class?

Choose students to be salespeople in the different departments. These students should:

- make signs that say "_____ Department"
- arrange the items they are selling
- decide on the prices and make price tags to put on each item (Remember, prices in a department store can't be changed.)

The other students are the shoppers. Each student will shop with a partner.

Everyone should try to use some of the expressions from this lesson.
To help you remember them, you can write the list from page 128 on the board.

2. Write five sentences about what you did in the Walk and Talk activity. For example, if you were a salesperson, you can write, I sold jeans to three people. If you were a shopper, you can write, I tried jeans on.

- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____

8. Info Gap — Flea Market

Culture Note

Many people in the United States like to buy things that are "used." They go to flea markets, yard sales, and "second-hand" stores. Do people buy used things in your native country?

Imagine that two people are talking at a flea market. At a flea market, people can talk about changing the prices. This is called bargaining. You cannot do this in a department store.

One person (Speaker 1) is selling many different things, and the other person (Speaker 2) is a shopper.

Work with a partner. One of you will be Speaker 1 and the other will be Speaker 2. Speaker 1 will look at page 175 and Speaker 2 will look at page 176. You will have different information to give each other. Don't look at your partner's page.

Variation: All students who are Speaker 1 can set up tables or desks around the classroom. All students who are Speaker 2 can walk around the room and go shopping.

When you finish:

1. The shoppers will tell the class what they bought.

Examples of what they can say:

- I bought ____ because ____.
- The seller wanted $20, but I paid $__.

2. The sellers will tell the class what they sold.

Examples of what they can say:

- I sold ____.
- The customer wanted to pay only $10, but we bargained, and I got $12.

9. Write a Dialogue

Work on your own or with a partner. Write a conversation between Sam and Jack. Use at least five of the expressions from the box.

Start with Sam saying “Jack, look . . .” (Also, try to use some expressions from other lessons that you studied.)

What do you think of . . . ?

How much is . . . ?

How does . . . look?

try . . . on

How much are . . . ?

How do . . . look?

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- The advantages and disadvantages of shopping online
- How to bargain at a flea market
- How to plan and organize a yard sale

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the “Hot Seat” (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the “Hot Seat.” This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

Who's Cooking Tonight?

Theme: Male and Female Roles

Warm-Up

Answer these questions with a partner or in a small group.

1. Do you know anyone who works at home (not in an office)?
☐ Yes ☐ No If yes, who? _____
 What kind of work does he or she do? _____
2. In your family, who usually
 - cooks dinner? _____
 - washes the dishes? _____
 - does the laundry? _____
3. Is it common in your native country for men to do any of the things in number 2?
☐ Yes ☐ No
 Explain.

Focused Listening

Before You Listen

Look at the cartoon on page 137. A woman is talking to her husband. What do you think she is saying?

As You Listen

- (A) Close your book. Listen to the conversation between the husband and wife to find the answers to these questions.

Why is she late?

Who took a nap?

- (B) Listen again, but this time, read the conversation as you listen.

HUSBAND: Hello.

WIFE: Honey? It's me . . .

HUSBAND: Where are you?

WIFE: At the station. I missed my train so I'm going to be late.

HUSBAND: Oh, that's too bad. Will you get back in time to pick up the kids?

WIFE: I don't think so. Can you get them?

HUSBAND: No problem.

WIFE: Make sure they start their homework.

HUSBAND: Don't worry. What time do you think you'll be home?

WIFE: Probably in about an hour. How was your day?

HUSBAND: Well, I worked for a few hours at the computer, and then I got sleepy, so I took a nap.

WIFE: You took a nap! You're so lucky you work at home. I can't take a nap in the office, you know.

HUSBAND: But I also did the laundry and the dishes. You can't do those things at the office.

WIFE: Well, that's true. Hey, what's for dinner?

HUSBAND: Chicken. It'll be ready when you get home.

WIFE: I can't wait. I love your chicken.

HUSBAND: And I love you. See you around 6:30?

WIFE: I hope so. See ya.

After You Listen

- (A) Below are details about the introductory conversation. Circle H for what the husband does, did, or is going to do. Circle W for what the wife does, did, or is going to do.

1. is going to pick up the kids	H	W
2. works in an office	H	W
3. works at home	H	W
4. commutes to work	H	W
5. will make sure the kids do their homework	H	W
6. took a nap	H	W
7. did the laundry and the dishes	H	W

- (B) Say the conversation in pairs. Then have two students say the conversation in front of the class.

Understanding the New Expressions

Work with Others

If you're working with a partner or in a small group, read the short dialogues and examples for each expression aloud. Also, complete the Your Turn exercises together. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is unclear, and ask about what is not clear.

Read the short dialogues and examples for each expression. Also complete the Your Turn exercises that don't need partners. Then, for each expression, circle Yes or No to show if you understand. If you circled No, highlight or underline what is still unclear, and ask questions in class about what is not clear.

1. míss (my/the) tráin/bús = not get on a train or bus because you arrive late at the station or bus stop
- Oops! I have to leave now. I don't want to miss my train.
 - She misses the bus every day. She needs to get up earlier.
 - I'm sorry I'm late. I missed the bus.

Other things you can miss: an appointment, a party, a class, a test, etc.

ALL CLEAR ?

Note: Miss has another meaning. You can miss a person because you are not together. You can miss a place because you are not there. You can miss things because you don't have them right now.

- I miss my family. I'm homesick and I want to go back.
- He misses his native country and his mother's cooking.

Your Turn

1. Describe what happened when you missed something (a bus, a train, a plane, an appointment, a party, a class, a test, etc.).
2. Talk about a person, place, or thing that you miss right now.

ALL CLEAR ?

2. get back = arrive at the place you started from (return) (past = got)

A: I'm going shopping.

B: What time will you get back?

A: Probably around 2:00.

- I'm sorry I didn't call you. I got back late.

Note: Back is not a verb. It is not correct to say: I'll back later.

Your Turn

Complete the dialogues.

A: The party is going to start at 8:00.

B: Don't worry. I _____ by 7:00.

A: Are they on vacation?

B: No, they _____ yesterday.

ALL CLEAR ?

3. in time to (do something) / in time for (something) = before it is too late

Use get to a place with in time to + verb:

Don't worry. I'll get home in time to eat dinner.

watch the movie with you.

help you with your homework.

Use get to a place with in time for + noun:

I'm sorry. I can't get home in time for dinner.

the movie.

the party.

Contrast:

- They didn't get to school in time to take the test.
- They didn't get to school in time for the test.

Your Turn

Fill in the blanks with to or for.

1. I'm so happy. Last night I got home in time _____ see you on TV.
2. We were late. We didn't get there in time _____ buy tickets, so we didn't see the movie.
3. He is going to be late for the birthday party. But I hope he will be in time _____ the cake.

Similar Expression: on time = punctual, when something is expected

- Don't be late. Come on time.
- I know the party starts at 8:00, but tell him that it starts at 7:00 because he's never on time.

4. nó problém—say this when someone asks you to do something, and you are happy to do it. It means "yes," but it is more friendly.

A: Can you help me carry these bags?

B: Sure. No problem.

A: Is it OK if we go to the movies on Sunday? I'm busy on Saturday.

B: No problem.

ALL CLEAR ?

Your Turn

10. She can't wait for to her birthday party.

4. Listen and Write the Expressions

The husband and wife from the introductory dialogue are talking in their living room after dinner.

As you listen, fill in the blanks with the expressions that you hear. When you finish, perform the conversation with a partner.

WIFE: That chicken was really good. I'm lucky that I married you. You're a great cook.

HUSBAND: Thanks.

WIFE: And it's great that you (1) _____
and (2) _____.
Did you have time to do your work at the computer?

HUSBAND: Not today, but tomorrow I'll work a lot. Can you (3) _____ (4) _____
pick up the kids and make dinner tomorrow?

WIFE: Sure. (5) _____. I'll try to (6) _____ _____ early. I'll (7) _____
I take an early train. What do you want for dinner?

WIFE: You know, it's only 8:30, but I'm (9) _____.
I had a busy day.

HUSBAND: And you didn't (10) _____ like I did. Maybe it's a good idea to go to bed early tonight.

WIFE: Yeah, but I want to watch some TV first. What's on?

5. Sentence Writing

Write sentences or mini-dialogues with expressions from this lesson.
Use the New Expression Collection list on page 147.

6. Dictation

You will hear the dictation three times. First, just listen. Second, as you listen, write the dictation on a piece of paper. Skip lines. Third, check what you wrote. Key Words: wife, husband, chicken, laundry

After the dictation, proofread. Circle your mistakes. Don't erase them. Think about what you need to study.

7. Walk and Talk

1. Walk to the opposite side of the room and ask two different students questions 1 and 2 in the chart. Also, be sure to ask, "Why?" or "Why not?" Take notes in the chart.

Useful phrase: It depends (on) . . .

Questions	Student Name _____	Student Name _____
1. Do you think it's OK for men to do the laundry, do the dishes, and cook?
2. Do you think it's OK for women to work if they have young children?

When you finish, put the class results on the board and have the students give reasons why they said yes, sometimes, or no.

2. Write two sentences about what each student said to you. Use the students' names.

Question 1

1. _____ said it's OK for men to do the laundry because _____

2. _____

Question 2

1. _____
2. _____

8. Contact Assignment

With a partner, ask two native English speakers the following questions. You can ask people in your school, at a library or store, or in your neighborhood. You don't need to walk up to strangers on the street.

Introduce yourself like this. You can practice saying this in class:

Hi. We're from _____ and _____ and we're studying English. We have a homework assignment to ask three short questions about male and female roles and household chores. Do you have a minute to answer our questions?

Advice: Look directly at the people you are talking to and take short notes. Don't just look at your book, and don't let the people read the questions.

1. Do you think it's OK for men to do the laundry, do the dishes, and cook?

Reasons

Person 1: ☐ Yes ☐ Sometimes ☐ No _____

Person 2: ☐ Yes ☐ Sometimes ☐ No _____

2. Do you think it's OK for women to work if they have children?

Person 1: ☐ Yes ☐ Sometimes ☐ No _____

Person 2: ☐ Yes ☐ Sometimes ☐ No _____

3. (You and your partner write a question to ask.)

Person 1: ☐ Yes ☐ Sometimes ☐ No _____

Person 2: ☐ Yes ☐ Sometimes ☐ No _____

After you get the information from the two people, answer these questions.

1. When you said you were studying English and you asked people to talk to you, what did they say? _____

2. Did the native English speakers understand your questions?
___ always ___ usually ___ sometimes ___ rarely
3. How much did you understand when the native speakers answered your questions? ____ percent
4. How did you feel when you talked to the two native speakers?

5. Which responses were the most interesting? Why?

9. Write a Dialogue

Work on your own or with a partner. Write a conversation between the mother and the person on the phone. Use at least five of the expressions from the box.

Start with the mother saying “What time will you get home?” (Also, try to use some expressions from other lessons that you studied.)

miss	in time to	in time for	do the laundry	do the dishes
I hope so	I hope not	can't wait to	can't wait for	get sleepy make sure	no problem	get back	on time	take a nap

10. Word Search

Complete the underlined expressions. Then find the complete expressions in the puzzle. The words can be spelled backwards. They can also be vertical (↓), horizontal (↔), or diagonal (↗) (↖).

11. Make a Speech—Appendix C

Prepare a five minute speech about one of the following topics. (See Appendix C on page 177 for more information.) Talk about one of these things:

- Male and female roles in my grandparents' house and my house
- How to bring up a boy or girl in today's world
- The life of a typical working woman

12. Hot Seat—Appendix D

Interview a classmate. Choose one student to come to the "Hot Seat" (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the "Hot Seat." This student will answer questions. See Appendix D on page 182 for sample questions. It is best to not ask personal questions.

LESSON 1: What's Wrong?

Part 1: Sentence Stress

These are the expressions from this lesson:

WHAT'S WRONG	at the BEGINNING
TAKING THIS CLASS	GET to KNOW
HAVE to	MAKE FRIENDS
be AFRAID of	GET BETTER
DON'T WORRY	HAVE TROUBLE

Notice the words that are not in capital letters. These words are usually not strong or stressed (emphasized):

to	(from the infinitive, for example: have "to talk") be	(verb "be" and am/is/are/was/were)
of, at	(prepositions)
the	(article)

Listen and say each expression listed above. Make the words to, be, of, at, and the less strong (weaker) than the other words.

Practice saying the first part of the introductory dialogue. Make the capitalized words stronger than the other words.

ANDY: WHAT'S WRONG, Eric?

ERIC: I'm REALLY NERVOUS. I'm ALWAYS THIS WAY on the FIRST DAY of SCHOOL.

ANDY: You're not the ONLY one. It's HARD for me, TOO. I'm GLAD we're TAKING THIS CLASS TOGETHER.

ERIC: Do you KNOW ANYTHING about the TEACHER?

ANDY: UH-HUH, a LITTLE. SOMEONE TOLD me she GIVES a LOT of HOMEWORK, and you HAVE to TALK a LOT in CLASS.

2,11

Part 2: Contractions

Contractions are two words put together to form one word. Native English speakers use many contractions when they speak, and that may be why you sometimes don't understand what you hear.

Here are examples of contractions from this lesson. Practice saying the full forms and the contractions.

Full forms	Contractions
what is	what's
I am	I'm
you are	you're
it is	it's
we are	we're do not	don't does not	doesn't
the teacher is	the teacher's let us	let's

Listen and repeat

1. What's wrong?
2. I'm glad we're taking this class.
3. You're not the only one.
4. It's hard for me, too.
5. Don't worry.
6. It doesn't get better for me.
7. The teacher's here.
8. Let's talk after class.

Part 3: Hafta and Hasta

Have to is often pronounced "hafta" and has to is often pronounced "hasta."

It is important for you to understand this pronunciation when you listen to English, but you do not have to pronounce have to in these ways.

Listen to the dialogue again and notice how contractions and have to are pronounced.

LESSON 2: Who's This?

Part 1: Stress in Phrasal Verbs

In this lesson, you learned four phrasal verbs: hold on, hang up, pick up, and get off. Phrasal verbs are verbs with two or more words.

When you say these words, stress the second word. That means make the second word stronger: hold ON/held ON; hang UP/hung UP; pick UP/picked UP; get OFF/got OFF

Listen and repeat

- Hold ON a minute, and I'll get Sara.
- Alex, when are you going to hang UP?
- Why don't I pick you UP at 7:00?
- My parents are calling me for dinner, and I have to get OFF.

2,13

Part 2: Contractions

Here are examples of contractions from this lesson. Practice saying both the full forms and the contractions.

Full forms	Contractions	Full forms	Contractions who is	who's	I am	I'm it is	it's	cannot	can't
I will	I'll	do not	don't

Listen and repeat

1. Who's this?
2. It's Alex.
3. It's for you.
4. I'll be right there.
5. I'm really sorry.
6. I can't make it on Saturday.
7. Why don't I pick you up?

2,14

Practice

Look at the conversations in Lesson 2 on pages 20 and 30–31.

1. Underline these phrasal verbs: hold on, hang up, pick up, and get off.
2. Put a stress mark (´) over the second part of each phrasal verb.
3. Circle the contractions.
4. Listen again to the conversations. Repeat what you hear.

LESSON 3: Let's Go Away for the Weekend!

Sentence Stress

In Lesson 1, you learned that some words in English (for example, prepositions and articles) are not stressed (not said strongly).

Other words need to be said strongly. These words (such as nouns and adjectives) have a lot of information and need to be strong and clear. To understand which words need to be stressed or not stressed, look at the boxes below and on the next page. Most of the words come from the conversation on page 40.

Usually Stressed*

Nouns	Main verbs	Negative helping verbs	Adjectives weekend	know	don't	three-day month	have	won't	next
idea	want		great
beach	go		right
winter	take		good swimming	do		crowded
walks	read
plenty	need things	relax
movies	think reservation	make lots	stay places
Also stressed
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Question words (who, what, where, when, why, how) • Demonstrative adjectives and pronouns (this, that, these, those) • Forms of be when they are the last word in a sentence (Yes, I am.) • Adverbs (quickly, always, very) • Negative helping verbs (It doesn't cost a lot.)

Usually Not Stressed

Forms of be	Prepositions	Articles	Helping verbs	Pronouns	Conjunctions am is are was were be	to in on of	a an the	do can will	you we I it	but and or so

PRONUNCIATION AND LISTENING PRACTICE

- Say the following lines from the conversation on page 40. The stressed words are in capital letters.
- Listen again to the conversation. Repeat after the speakers.

1. You KNOW, we HAVE a THREE-DAY WEEKEND
NEXT MONTH.
Do you WANT to GO AWAY?
2. THAT'S a GREAT IDEA!
WHERE do you WANT to GO?
3. To the BEACH.
4. The BEACH in WINTER?
5. We DON'T HAVE to GO SWIMMING.
We can TAKE WALKS on the BEACH.
6. But WHAT ELSE can we DO?
7. Oh, THERE are PLENTY of THINGS to DO.
We can READ,
GO to the MOVIES.
I NEED to RELAX,
DON'T YOU?

8. I SURE DO
 You're RIGHT.
 The BEACH is a GOOD IDEA.
 And it WON'T be CROWDED.
 Do you THINK we NEED to MAKE a RESERVATION ANYWHERE?
9. NO, I DON'T THINK SO.
 THERE are LOTS of PLACES to STAY.
 And they'll be CHEAPER NOW than they are in the SUMMER.

LESSON 4: Wake Up!

Intonation

In Lessons 1, 2, and 3, you learned that it is important to stress some words in English. This helps people understand what a speaker thinks is important.

Intonation also helps people understand what a speaker thinks is important.

Intonation is the ^{rising (going up)} and ^{falling (going down)} of a speaker's voice.

Intonation usually goes

- up on the most important words.
 I don't ^{want} to get out of bed.
- down at the end of a sentence to show that the sentence is ending.
 I ^{need} to get ^{up} now and take a ^{show} er.
- up and then down at the end of a sentence if the last word in the sentence is the most important one. If the last word has only one syllable, that word is said longer.
 Why did I go to bed so ^{late} last night?
- up at the end of yes-no questions.
 Don't you have to go to the air ^{port}?

Practice

Step 1: Read the dialogue silently and imagine your voice going up and down. Move your hand up and down to show rising and falling intonation.

Step 2: Say the dialogue with a partner, paying special attention to the rising and falling of your voice.

Step 3: Listen to the dialogue. Do you hear the speakers' voices going up and down?

Step 4: Say the dialogue with a partner again.

MIKE: Wake up, Don't you have to go to the airport?
Tom!

TOM: Yeah, I'll get up in five minutes. I don't want to get out of bed—it's so early.

MIKE: Well, I'm going back to sleep. I hope you won't miss your airplane. Have a good trip!

TOM: Thanks. Oh, why did I go to bed late last night? It's so hard to get up, and it's so cold and a bit rainy. But I need to get up now and take a shower.

What time is it? Six o'clock? Oh, I'm a little late.

I don't have time for a shower. I have to get dressed and get to the airport right away.

LESSON 5: Are You Ready to Order?

Stress and Intonation

1. Review the rules about sentence stress (Lessons 1 and 3) and intonation (Lesson 4).
2. Below is the beginning of the introductory conversation from Lesson 5 on page 82. As you say the conversation with a partner, do the following:
 - Stress the capitalized words—make them longer, stronger, and louder than other words.
 - Make your voice go up and down the way the words appear. Try to read with feeling.

SISTER: Oh, it's SO NICE to eat OUT and have TIME TOGETHER.

WHAT a GREAT BIRTH DAY PRESENT!

BROTHER: I'm GLAD you LIKE I'm ALWAYS HAPPY to TREAT it.

you to LU N And I was THINK ING, you KN OW, we CH.

NEVER REALLY HAVE TIME SIT TA to just and LK . . .

SISTER: And NOW we have TWO HO U And THIS is a REALLY NICE PL A CE.

BROTHER: Yeah, I COME here ONCE in a WHILE.

SISTER: WHAT are you GOING to HA
V
E?

BROTHER: Um . . . I'm NOT SURE YOU EVER WA
But ORDER WHAT you N
yet. T.

BIRTH
It's your DAY.

3. Listen to the recorded conversation. Notice which words are stressed and how the speakers' voices go up and down.
4. With a partner, perform the whole conversation between the brother and sister. Give special attention to stress and intonation.
5. Listen to the recorded restaurant conversation in Exercise 3. Then perform that conversation with two partners.

LESSON 6: My Leg Is Killing Me!

Intonation in Questions

Here are the questions from this lesson's two conversations on pages 100 and 112:

Yes-No Questions

Do you think it's broken?
Can I get you anything?
Can you move your leg?
Do you think his leg's broken?

Information (WH) Questions

What happened?
What can I do for you today?
What's your name?

Yes-No Questions—Rising Intonation

When you ask a yes-no question, remember that your voice needs to rise (go up) at the end of the question. (See Lesson 4.) Practice asking the questions below.

1. Do you think it's bro^{ken?}
2. Can I get you any^{thing?}
3. Can you move your^{leg?}
4. Do you think his leg's bro^{ken?}

Information (Wh) Questions—Rising/Falling Intonation

When you ask an information question, remember that your voice needs to rise (go up) on the last stressed word, and then fall (go down) at the end of the question. Practice asking the questions below:

If the last stressed word is one syllable, stretch it out (make it longer).

1. What^{hap} pened?
2. What can I^{do} for you to^{day?}
3. What's yourⁿ a^{me?}

PRONUNCIATION and LISTENING PRACTICE

- These are the questions from the introductory conversations in Lesson 5 on pages 82-83. Practice asking these questions, using the rules for question intonation.

Yes-No Questions

Are you ready to order?
(Do you want) anything to drink?
Will that be all?

Information Questions

What are you going to have?
How about you?

- Listen to the introductory conversations in Lessons 5 and 6, and pay special attention to the intonation used in questions. Then practice repeating these questions as you listen.
- Do the Hot Seat activity in Appendix D. As you ask questions, think about question intonation.

LESSON 7: Shopping for Jeans

Thought Groups and Rhythm

Look at A and B below. Which shows the best way to say the lines?

___ A or ___ B

SALESCLERK: (Can I help you?)

LYNN: (Thanks.) (We're just looking.)

SALESCLERK: (Well,) (let me know) (if there's anything) (I can do for you.)

B

SALESCLERK: (Can) (I) (help) (you?)

LYNN: (Thanks.) (We're) (just) (looking.)

SALESCLERK: (Well,) (let) (me) (know) (if) (there's) (anything) (I) (can) (do)
(for) (you.)

The answer is that A is better. People say words in "thought groups" when they speak English. The music (rhythm) of English is not natural if you say each word alone.

Words often in a thought group

- a short sentence
- a natural group of words like an expression
- words that go alone

Example

(Can I help you?)
(let me know), (we're just looking)
(thanks), (well)

PRONUNCIATION and LISTENING PRACTICE

- Say the lines of the introductory conversation in thought groups. The words with the most stress and highest intonation are in capital letters.

Can I HELP you?

Thanks, we're just LOOKing.

Well, let me KNOW
if there's ANYthing
I can DO for you.

What do you THINK of these JEANS?

They're really NICE.
How much ARE they?

Hmm. . .
there's no PRICE tag.
Where's the SALESperson?
I'm going to ASK her. . .
Oh,
THERE she is.
ExCUSE me,
HOW much are these JEANS?

I'll be WITH you in a MINute.
OK.
Let's SEE.
They WERE 29 dollars, but I think toDAY
they're 30 percent OFF.
YES,
That's RIGHT.
They're about 20 DOLLars.
That's a good PRICE for these JEANS.

Can I try them ON?

SURE.
The FITting rooms are right over THERE.
Just go on IN.
Thanks a LOT.

LYNN,
how do they LOOK?

Oh, JIM!
They're too BIG.
I'll get you a SMALLer size. . .
WAIT a minute. . .
HERE, try THESE.

THANKS. . .
YEAH,
I think these are BETter.
How do they LOOK?

FINE.
OH,
they look very NICE on you.

GREAT.
I'll TAKE them.

- Listen again to the conversation. Repeat after the speakers.
- Perform the introductory conversation in groups of three.
- Look at the conversation in Exercise 3. Put parentheses around thought groups. Think about what words go together naturally. Practice saying this conversation in groups of three.

LESSON 8: Who's Cooking Tonight?

Stress, Intonation, and Rhythm Review

Listen and repeat the Lesson 8 introductory conversation in thought groups. The syllables and words with the most stress are in capital letters. Remember to use rising/falling intonation in statements and wh-questions. Use rising intonation in yes-no questions.

HONey? It's ME.

Where ARE you?

At the STAtion.

I MISSED my TRAIIn
so I'm GOInG to be LATe.

Oh, that's too BAD.
Will you get BACK in TIME to pick UP the KIDS?

I don't THINK so.
Can YOU get them?

No PROBLEM.

Make SURE they START their HOMeWork.

Don't WORry.
What TIME
do you THINK you'll be HOME?

PRObably in about an HOUr.

How was your DAY?

Well,
I WORKED for a few HOUrs at the compUter, and then I got SLEEPy
so I TOOK a NAP.

You took a NAP!
You're LUCKy
you work at HOME.
I can't take a NAP
at the OFFice,
you KNOW.

But I ALSo did the LAUNdry and the DISHes.
You CAN'T do those THINGS
at the OFFice.

THAT'S true.
HEY,
WHAT'S for DINner?

CHICKen.
It'll be READy when you get HOME.

I can't WAIT.
I LOVE your CHICKen.

And I love YOU.
SEE you
by six-THIRty?

I HOPE so.
SEE ya.

Appendix A: Dictations (Exercise 6)

Your teacher will put the key words on the board to help you with spelling.

Lesson 1, Page 14

Eric is a student. He is very nervous on the first day of class. He is afraid of talking in front of people. His friend Andy tells him, "Don't worry." She says he will get to know people in the class and make friends.

After class Eric feels better, but Andy is nervous. She is afraid of having a lot of homework. Eric tells Andy that he will help her.

Lesson 2, Page 31

When Alex calls his friend Sara, her sister Anna answers the phone. Anna asks, "Who's this?" and Alex says, "It's Alex." Anna tells her sister, "It's for you!" and Sara comes to the phone.

Alex invites Sara to go to the movies on Friday night. Sara can't make it on Friday, but Saturday is good. But they don't go to the movies. They go to dinner and it's great. They want to go to the same restaurant again, but Sara wants to drive there. She also wants to pay.

Lesson 3, Page 52

Alice and Peter go away for the weekend. They go to the beach. It is winter, so they can't go swimming. But they take walks on the beach and they get plenty of fresh air. On Friday night they go dancing, and on Sunday they go ice skating. They have a good time and are very happy.

Lesson 4, Page 71

Tom has to wake up early to go to the airport. But when his roommate wakes him up, he doesn't want to get up. The room is very cold and dark, and he wants to go back to sleep.

Tom gets up, but he doesn't have time to take a shower. He gets dressed quickly and goes to the airport. He's lucky because he doesn't miss his plane.

Lesson 5, Page 92

WAITRESS: Are you ready to order?

CUSTOMER: Yes. What kind of soup do you have?

WAITRESS: Today we have really good chicken soup.

CUSTOMER: That sounds good. I'd like a cup of soup and a turkey sandwich.

WAITRESS: Would you like anything to drink?

CUSTOMER: Yes, I think I'll have some hot tea.

WAITRESS: Will that be all?

CUSTOMER: Yes, for now. Thanks.

Lesson 6, Page 111

Mike is standing at the top of the stairs. He is reading something. Then he falls down the stairs. His leg hurts a lot. He tells his wife Judy that his leg is killing him.

Judy gets ice for him and then she takes him to the hospital. The doctor says that Mike's leg is broken. Mike isn't happy because he has to stay put. He can't go to work for a few days.

Lesson 7, Page 129

Lynn and Jim go shopping together for jeans. Jim asks Lynn, "What do you think of these jeans?" She likes them, but she asks, "How much are they?" They are about $20. Jim tries them on. When Lynn sees Jim, she laughs because the jeans are very, very big. She gets a different size for Jim and these jeans look very nice on him. Jim tells the salesperson, "I'll take them."

Then they go shopping for a wedding gown for Lynn. They are going to get married very soon.

Lesson 8, Page 146

A woman is coming home late from work because she missed her train. She has a cell phone, so she calls her husband and tells him she is late. He will pick up the kids and have a chicken dinner ready when she gets home.

The wife thinks her husband is lucky because he works at home and he can take naps when he gets sleepy. He says that he does the laundry and the dishes because he is home. They have an interesting life.

Appendix B: Info Gaps

Lesson 3, Page 54

For Speaker 1

1. Here is information about YOUR summer. You will give this information to Speaker 2 when she or he asks you questions. You will sometimes need to add the words Yes and No.

My summer was great.
I went away for two weeks.
I stayed with cousins.
I had a great time.
I went swimming.
I played soccer.
I read two books.
Sometimes I took long walks on the beach.

2. After you finish giving information about your summer to Speaker 2, ask him/her the following questions, and complete this chart. Just write short notes on the right. Don't try to write every word that Speaker 2 says.

Questions to ask Speaker 2	Information from Speaker 2
----------------------------	----------------------------

How was your summer?
----------------------	--

Did you go away?
------------------	--

What did you do on weekends?
---------------------------------	--

Did you have a good time?
---------------------------	--

What else did you do?
-----------------------	--

Do you want to go away next summer?
--	--

Why?
------	--

Lesson 3, Page 54

For Speaker 2

1. Ask Speaker 1 the following questions and complete this chart. Just write short notes on the right. Don't try to write every word that Speaker 1 says.

Questions to ask Speaker 1

Information from Speaker 1

How was your summer?

Did you go away?

What stay in a hotel?

Who did you stay with?

Did you have a good time?

What did you do?

What else did you do?

2. Here is information about YOUR summer. You will give this information to Speaker 1 when she or he asks you questions. You will sometimes need to add the words Yes and No.

My summer was pretty good.

I didn't go away. I stayed home because I had to work.

On weekends, I often went to the beach with my family.

We had a great time.

We had barbecues and watched a lot of movies.

I'm happy to stay home.

There are plenty of things to do at home, so I don't need to go away.

For Speaker 1 (Seller)

You like selling old things at a flea market every weekend. Here is information about what you are selling. You will give this information to Speaker 2 when she or he asks you questions. If the shopper thinks your prices are too high (expensive), then you can “bargain.” Sometimes you can sell something for a lower price, and sometimes you will not change your price. You decide.

Example of a conversation:

SHOPPER: How much do you want for these plates?

SELLER: They're $10 each. They're very old.

SHOPPER: Will you take $8? (Or: How about $8?)

Before you start, write the name of each item on small pieces of paper or on 3" x 5" cards. On the back of the cards, write your prices. Put these cards on your desk so the shopper can see the items, but not the prices.

Items	Prices You Want to Get
very old plates	$10 each
a lamp	$25
a wooden table	$35
a beautiful pitcher	$15
a silver picture frame	$12
sunglasses	$10

When you finish, give the shopper what she or he bought (give the cards).

For Speaker 2 (Shopper)

You just moved into a new apartment and you need many things. You are shopping at a flea market because you can find many interesting and unusual things there, and the prices are cheaper than in most stores.

One seller has many old and beautiful things to sell. You ask, "How much is this?" or "How much are these?" (OR: "How much do you want for this/these?") When she or he tells you the price, you can say, "That is too expensive" and then you can ask, "Will you take $___?" or "How about $___?" In other words, you can "bargain." But if you really want something, you can pay what the seller wants.

Example of a conversation:

SHOPPER: How much do you want for these plates?

SELLER: They're $10 each. They're very old.

SHOPPER: Will you take $8? (Or: How about $8?)

Here is a list of things the seller is trying to sell at the flea market:

Items	Prices You Want to Get
very old plates	$5 each
a lamp	$15
a wooden table	$28
a beautiful pitcher	$9
a silver picture frame	$7
sunglasses	$5

When you finish, take what you bought (the cards) and thank the seller.

Appendix C: How to Make a Speech

Prepare a five minute speech about a topic that your teacher approves. Suggested topics appear at the end of each lesson. Additional topics: my job, a holiday in my native country, how to cook something.

Questions you might ask

1. How will I know if my speech will be five minutes?

The answer is: by practicing it out loud at home, even if you have to go into a room and close the door.

2. Can I read my speech?

No. You will need to put short notes (not sentences) on note cards. (But you can write the first and last sentence on a card.) If you use more than one note card, number your cards.

3. How should I start and end my speech?

To start, say "Today I'm going to talk about ____."

To end, say "Thank you. Are there any questions?" (Don't end with "That's all.")

4. Can I memorize my speech?

No. If you memorize your speech, it will sound like you are reading it. It is better to just look at notes and then make your own sentences.

5. How can I practice?

- Find a quiet place.
- Record your speech if you can.
- Practice more than once.
- Time your speech.

6. Can I change my topic?

If you change your approved topic, you should talk to your teacher to make sure that your new topic is OK.

7. How will I be evaluated?

Your teacher and two of your classmates will complete an evaluation form. You will also complete a self-evaluation. The three evaluation forms appear on pages 179–181.

Sample note card for speech

(You will probably need more than one card.)

Introductory Sentence: Today I'm going to talk about my job.

- my job interview
- when I got the job
- the people at work:
 - my boss
 - my friends
- my hours at work and what I do:
 -

Conclusion: summary + the kind of job I want in the future

Concluding Sentence: Thank you. Are there any questions?

Appendix D: Hot Seat

Choose one student to come to the “Hot Seat” (a chair) in the front of the room. Or, get into groups and choose one student in each group to be on the “Hot Seat.” This student will answer questions. If someone asks a personal question, the student on the hot seat does not have to answer.

When you ask questions, remember to think about question intonation (see Lesson 6).

Possible questions

- What’s your name?
- Where are you from?
- Where do you live now?
- Why do you want to learn English?
- Do you like the United States? (Canada, Japan, etc.?) Why or why not?
- What do you do in your free time?
- Do you like to go to the movies? What kind of movies do you like?
- What is your favorite kind of music?
- What is your favorite kind of food?
- Other:

“Taboo” Questions: (Don’t ask these because they are too personal.)

Are you married?

How old are you?

What is your religion?

How much money do you make?

How much rent do you pay?

If someone asks you these questions and you don’t want to answer, you can answer with a question. For example:

Student A: How old are you?

Student B: How old are YOU?

Or, you can just say, “That’s a personal question.”

Appendix E: Classroom Language

These are questions and directions that students and teachers often use. Add to these lists as you, your classmates, and teacher talk in class.

Questions that students often ask in class

1. How do you spell ____?
2. How do you pronounce ____?
3. What does ____ mean?
4. What is the meaning of ____?
5. What is the definition of ____?
6. _____
7. _____
8. _____

Requests that students often make in class

1. Could you please write that on the board?
2. Could you please repeat that?
3. Could you please say that again?
4. Could you please say that more slowly?
5. _____
6. _____
7. _____

Questions that teachers often ask to see if students understand

1. Do you understand?
2. Are you following me?
3. Got it?
4. _____
5. _____
6. _____

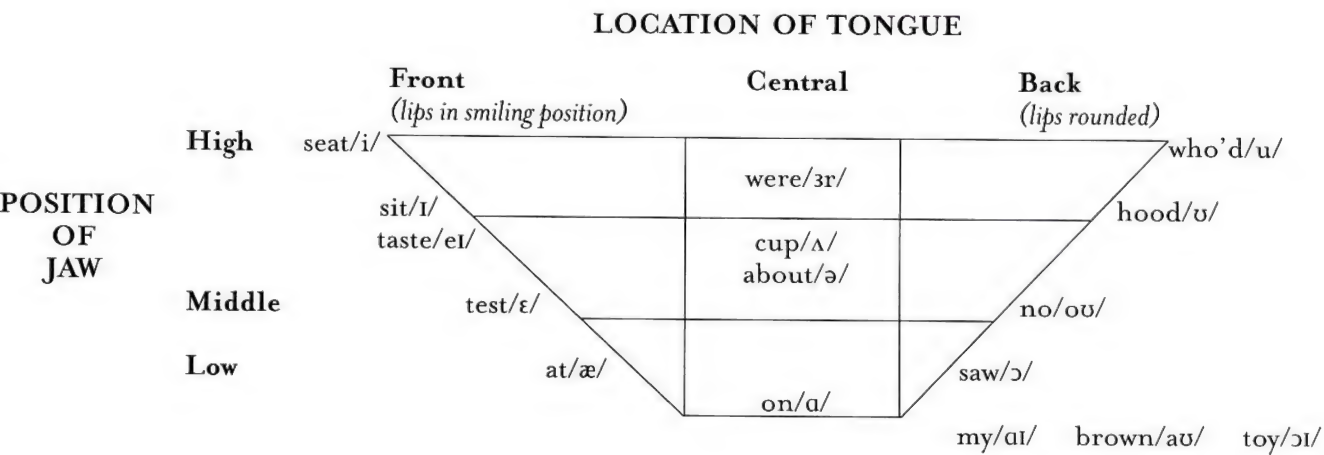

Directions that teachers often give students

1. Pass your papers up.
2. Pass these papers back.
3. Hand in (turn in) your homework.
4. Get into groups.
5. Work with a partner.
6. Check your homework.
7. Take turns.
8. _____

Appendix G: Study Tips

1. Study Cards

Buy a set of index cards. On each card, write the following with the expressions that you find most difficult to remember from each lesson.

Expression:

Sentence:

Grammar reminder:

Pronunciation reminder:

Example study card

Expression:	get out of bed
Sentence:	It is hard for me to get out of bed early in the morning.
Grammar reminder:	remember "of"
Pronunciation reminder:	Some people say "owda" for "out of."

2. Cover Your Walls

Do you ever wash dishes? Why don't you hang a card with expressions that you need to study near your sink? You can review while you wash dishes.

Of course, you can hang up cards all over your home. Soon you will be dreaming about expressions in English.

3. Other Ideas

(a) Write new expressions from in or out of class in a small book that fits in a pocket or purse. Study these expressions while you wait for a bus, wait to see a doctor, etc.

(b) Study with others. What are some of the ways you can study together?

(c) Your Suggestions?

Appendix H: Expression Clusters

Every time you finish a lesson, add expressions to the "clusters" below. There are extra lines, so you can add other expressions that you talk about in class. Over time, you will see how many expressions with the same words you have learned. (Write complete expressions on one line.)

Review Game: Using a dark marking pen, write the following words on sheets of paper (one word on each sheet). (Word List: make, do, take, have, get, go, up, out, down, in, to, of, at) Students should stand in front of the classroom, each holding a sheet of paper so that everyone can see.

The other students should have index cards with expressions minus the words in the above list. Each student should walk up to and stand by the student who is holding the word that will complete the expression. After everyone is standing in the right place, the groups of students clustered around each word can go to the board and make sentences with the expressions that they form.

Appendix K: Expression Collection 1

Expressions from All Clear 1 That Students Hear Or Read Outside of Class

Outside of class, you will hear and read many of the expressions that you are studying because the expressions are so common.

When you hear or read any of these expressions, write them down on an index card. This will help make you a more careful listener and reader, and you will find that you remember the expressions better.

It would be a good idea if perhaps once a week students in your class shared their lists.

Appendix L: Expression Collection 2

New Expressions That Students Hear Or Read Outside of Class

Outside of class, you will hear and read many expressions in English. You will find them on TV and on the radio, in the movies, on T-shirts, on bumper stickers, and in advertisements. They are everywhere.

Start a collection of these expressions by writing them down on index cards. You can find out what the expressions mean either by asking someone outside of class or by asking your teacher.

It would be a good idea if perhaps once a week students in your class shared their lists.

All Clear

Listening and Speaking Second Edition

The three-volume All Clear series teaches students to recognize and produce the high-frequency idioms, phrases and contemporary expressions needed in a range of conversational situations. In All Clear 1, each lesson focuses initially on chunks of language in the form of idioms and other expressions and then provides many structured and communicative activities for speaking, listening, grammar, writing, pronunciation and public speaking practice.

Series Features:

- Dialogues set up the lesson theme and serve as springboards for learning the idioms and other expressions.
- Listening skills are developed through pre-, while-, and post-listening activities related to each unit's introductory dialogue.
- "Your Turn" speaking activities encourage learners to use the newly acquired idioms and expressions interactively.
- Numerous listening and speaking activities help build fluency through the integration of reading, writing, and grammar skills.
